ARGUMENT IN SCHLEY CASE

Begun Yesterday Afternoon by Mr. Hanna for the Government.

SCHLEY AMMENDS TESTIMONY

Captain Sigsbee the First Witness---Evidence of Newspaper Correspondents Not Taken.

By Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 4.—The Schley court of inquiry reached the argument stage at the beginning of the afternoon session today. The morning sitting was devoted to listening to Admiral Schley and Captain Sigsbee in making corrections of their testimony which had been given previously and the introduction by Judge Advocate Lemly of numerous documents bearing upon different phases of the inquiry. Admiral Schley did not make any material additions to himself largely to the clearing up of ambiguous points in his evidence. An effort was made to introduce two new witnesses who were expected to give testimony in Admiral Schley's behalf concerning the controversy as to what information Captain Sigsbee communicated to Admiral Schley when he arrived off Santiago in May, 1898. One of these witnesses was Frank B. Richards, and the other George Lynch, both of New York, and both newspaper correspondents who were on duty in Cuba and in Cuban waters during the war with Spain. Mr. Lynch was on the press boat Somers N. Smith and Mr. Richardson on the Premier. They were to have testified concerning the meeting of these vessels with the St. Paul, on which Captain Sigsbee was in command. The court decided, however, not to hear them.

The opening speech of the argument in the case was made on behalf of the government by Mr. E. P. Hanna, assistant to the judge advocate. He began his presentation of the case a few minutes after the court convened at 2 o'clock and when the court adjourned two hours later he had not covered more than half of the ground covered in the controversy.

The first witness to take the stand today was Captain Sigsbee, who was recalled for the purpose of reviewing his former testimony. Admiral Schley also was called for this purpose, and his statement occupied a good portion of the time of the court. His testimony in chief occupied five days and as many of his statements were made off hand, there were innumerable verbal changes to be made, as well as some additions. During the day Captain Lemly submitted for the consideration of the court a large mass of documentary evidence, including Captain Goodrich's report concerning cable cutting made on April 29, 1898; the reports made by Captain Phillip of the Texas, Captain Higginson of the Massachusetts, Captain McCalla of the Marblehead and Captain Cotton of the Harvard; Commodore Schley's report of May 30; Captain Wise's report of the operations of the Yale off Santiago; the log of the Spanish ship Cristobal Colon; Admiral Sampson's orders to Captain Folger of the Scorpion, all of the reports of the commanding officers of the battle of July 3; Commodore Schley's letter to the senate, one of Captain Sigsbee's letters and also the letter of the secretary of the navy to the senate as printed in executive document.

There has been no change of the program arranged on Friday for the presentation of argument by counsel. Mr. Hanna will lead off for the government and it was expected at the beginning of today's session that he would begin his presentation of the case during the afternoon sitting, but that he would not be able to conclude until tomorrow. Mr. Hanna will talk for about three hours and will be followed by Captain Parker on behalf of Admiral Schley. It is expected that these two speeches will consume most of the court's time tomorrow, and it is now believed that Mr. Rayner for Admiral Schley, and Captain Lemly for the government will conclude the presentation of the case to the court on Wednesday and probably part of Thursday.

While Captain Sigsbee was on the stand Mr. Rayner asked him if he had telephoned or otherwise communicated with the press boat Premier, the fact that the Spanish fleet was at Santiago. The witness replied that he had not done so, although he would have been justified in saying so if he thought it proper under the circumstances of war.

When Captain Sigsbee was excused Captain Lemly announced that he had no more witnesses to call. Frank B. Richards was then sworn. Mr. Richards stated that he was on the dispatch boat Premier during the Santiago campaign and that the boat was called by Captain Sigsbee on the night of May 27 or 28. At this point Captain Lemly objected to this line of evidence on the ground that Commodore Schley was not present during the conversation, also that it was not material to the issue. Captain Lemly referred to the ruling of the court regarding the Potts-Sears conversation which had been ruled out and claimed that this was exactly a parallel case.

Mr. Rayner contended that this alleged conversation with Captain Sigsbee is one of the vital points of the case. [illegible] directly upon one of the most important specifications of the precept. Mr. Rayner said he did not desire to impeach the credibility of Captain Sigsbee, but will endeavor to impeach very strongly his recollection. After a short argument by Mr. Hanna in support of Captain Lemly's objection the court retired to consider the point raised.

The court was absent but a short time. When it returned Admiral Dewey announced that as the testimony of this witness is not considered material to the case, the objection is sustained in accordance with the court's previous ruling.

Under this ruling neither Mr. Richards nor Mr. Lynch could testify and Admiral Schley took the stand for the purpose of correcting his testimony.

The admiral was suffering from a cold and his voice was quite hoarse. He began his corrections at the very first of his testimony. Most of these corrections were of typographical errors or the changing of words to make sentences read more smoothly.

In referring to his testimony regarding the arrival of the Harvard on May 27 with a dispatch from the secretary of the navy informing him that all of the departments information indicated the presence of the Spanish fleet at Santiago, which dispatch he had declared never had reached him and therefore he had never seen it or heard of it until recently, Admiral Schley corrected this portion of his testimony by stating that neither his flag lieutenant nor his secretary had ever seen the dispatch nor remembered it. He had previously included his first lieutenant in this statement.

Referring to his testimony regarding the reconnaissance of May 31 the admiral changed his statement that fifty, if not more, shells passed over the fleet, to read that "a number of shells passed over the fleet." He also changed his evidence concerning suspicious movements in the harbor of Santiago July 2, to read that "before dark mo tide in the harbor a good deal of smoke coming up." The official record, he said, made him say that he saw the smoke after dark.

Coming to his answer to a question in reference to his order sent below during the early part of the battle to "stand by to ram," Admiral Schley emphasized his former testimony by stating that "there was a distinct attempt to ram on the part of the Maria Teresa, Admiral Cervera's flagship and the Vizcaya." He also reiterated his confidence in the Brooklyn's speed by stating that "with one engine and all the boiler power," she could have gotten up all speed that was needed. As to passing of the flying squadron by the Eagle on the morning of May 10, and the latter's conveying the information that there was "no news," Admiral Schley corrected his testimony, where he said that he was not mistaken as to this, by stating that he might have been mistaken.

Admiral Schley also corrected his statement regarding his visit to the flagship New York, when he had made his preliminary report of the battle of July 3 to Admiral Sampson. The record, he said, did not make the matter quite clear. "The admiral said to me," continued the witness, "that I had omitted a very important detail which was to state that the New York was present."

The witness corrected but one of his answers to the questions of the court. This question was to the effect that as he was ordered to go to Cienfuegos to establish a blockade, was it not his duty under the circumstances to communicate direct, either by signal or otherwise with the senior officer of the vessels returning from Cienfuegos and obtain from him all information regarding the situation at or near that port.

The answer, as corrected, reads: "The communication which be made to me through the Eagle indicated that Captain McCalla knew I was bound for Cienfuegos and I, of course, took it for granted if he had had anything important he would have notified me of the fact without my inquiry."

At this point Admiral Schley announced that he had no more corrections to make. Captain Parker called the admiral's attention to the evidence of Captain Sigsbee in which he had said that when he went on board the Brooklyn the whole question so far as he could remember was coal, and nothing but coal and that Commodore Schley already had made up his mind to go to Key West.

"That was not the first question Sigsbee asked me at all," replied Admiral Schley. "I did not say to Captain Sigsbee that we were going to Key West as the signal will show. Sigsbee was talking on the subject of coal and since he mentions it I recall the fact that his statement was that he was commanding a vessel that was one-tenth of a mile long and that she could not turn her engines over under 150 tons of coal a day, also that he could not remain there very long, that he would have to go to Key West."

"Had you, as a matter of fact, made up your mind at that time to go to Key West?"

"I had not."

Admiral Schley then referred to his conversation with Admiral Sampson regarding his instructions about not bombarding fortifications, as follows:

"I ought to mention in connection with the talk I had with Sampson in relation to his instructions about not bombarding fortifications, that I recall that he and I were talking about the guns that were probably there and I asked him whether he knew whether they were Horatio or Krupp guns. He said, probably both,' and that recalls the conversation to the testimony of Lieutenant Roys."

Judge Advocate I do not think the purpose of calling the witness to revise his testimony is to enable him to contradict witnesses who have been on the stand.

Mr. Rayner He can contradict my witness if we want him to do it. That is a remarkable statement. Your witnesses have a right to rebut ours and we have not a right to answer them? Mr. Roys was an entirely new witness and he testified to something new. I asked the question if we would have the right to call up witnesses to contradict new witnesses and the court said of course we would; otherwise we would be barred out entirely.

Judge Advocate I think as Lieutenant Roys is the only witness who remained uncontradicted I have no objection to make.

Mr. Rayner I think that is a great mistake, that he is the only witness uncontradicted. I think there are 50 witnesses uncontradicted according to my recollection. That is a highly improper remark for the judge advocate to make.

Judge Advocate If the court please, I am to be corrected by the court only and not by counsel, who has frequently attempted it.

Mr. Rayner I suggest may it please the court, that during the trial of this case it is highly improper and objectionable for the judge advocate to say that this is the only witness that is uncontradicted. It is objectionable because it is not a fact. That remark means to say that Admiral Schley has contradicted every witness on the stand. It is highly improper, highly objectionable.

Admiral Dewey The court has no objection to the admiral's reference to Lieutenant Roys.

Admiral Schley—I merely wanted to say in connection with Lieutenant Roys' testimony that I heard nothing of the protest of which he speaks of the desire of Lieutenant Sutherland to coal.

"I am quite sure he is mistaken about that because it would have been impossible that day for that ship to coal."

Admiral Schley was then finally excused and Captain Lemly offered a large number of documents as evidence. The report of Captain Goodrich on cable cutting was objected to and Captain Lemly withdrew it. Among this documentary evidence was a letter of the secretary of the navy to the president of the [illegible] dated February 6, 1899, in response to the senate resolution of January 3, 1899, submitting facts and military records affecting the proposal that certain officers in the navy be advanced according to the nominations sent to the senate on December 7, 1898. The proposition of Captain Lemly to introduce this letter as evidence occasioned considerable discussion. Mr. Rayner objecting to any ex parte statements being made a part of the record. It was finally decided that the letter should not go into the printed record in the case but that it may be referred to in the course of argument.

Captain Parker stated that there were two letters among this documentary evidence, one of them being a criticism of the conduct of Admiral Schley by Admiral Sampson.

"We object," he said, "unless we can bring Admiral Sampson to the stand."

Captain Lemly said he challenged him to produce that letter from Admiral Sampson. This Captain Parker did, but Captain Lemly stated that it was not embraced in that part of the documentary evidence he desired to introduce.

Before taking the usual recess for luncheon Mr Rayner offered in evidence the commission of Admiral Schley and when asked if he had any objection to its going in, Captain Lemly replied: "None at all," but called attention to the fact that it was a commission for three steps toward the door. Just then Crumley appeared one foot west of the screen and behind the bar and fired. Strong fell with his head southeast and his feet northwest. Prentice further stated that he could not have seen the flame of the gun if it had been fired from behind the cigar case.

PROGRESS OF THE CRUMLEY TRIAL

State's Witnesses Completed Their Testimony During Afternoon.

BEGINNING OF THE DEFENSE

Much Interest Shown in the Trial and Many Women Present in Court---Jurors Allowed to Vote.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, Colo., Nov. 4. In the trial of Grant Crumley, charged with the murder of Sam Strong, the state witnesses completed their testimony at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. Two witnesses for the defense had completed their testimony when court adjourned at 5 o'clock until 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning. The court arranged satisfactorily for the jurors to vote at the county election tomorrow. Neither Juror Daltman of Woodland Park nor Juror Sharpe of Victor will vote. Mr. Daltman is a Republican and Mr. Sharpe a Democrat, both agreed not to vote, their votes being paired. Judge Seeds instructed the bailiff to see that neither man voted. The entire jury will be conducted to the precincts in which the individual jurors reside.

The question of whether Crumley shot Strong over the cigar case is still the vital point in the case. Every witness for the state testifies that Strong was shot over the bar, when Strong and his party thought the difficulty over. The testimony of the two witnesses for the defense this afternoon was just as positive that Crumley fired the shot over the cigar case when Strong was rounding the screen with his revolver leveled towards Crumley.

Attorney Stimson, counsel for the state, today as on Saturday, directed most of his efforts to prove that the shot was fired over the bar and that Mr. Strong's body fell entirely north of the screen. Dr. McGruder's testimony upon this subject was very interesting. By this witness' expert testimony the state attempted to prove that the contour, deflection and geography of the blood spots upon the wall of the Newport saloon showed that the blood and tissues struck the wall at an angle from the north. This condition could only be if Crumley was behind the bar when the shot was fired. The doctor stated that if the blood struck the wall at a right angle, there would be no deviation. As it was, the blood stains were slightly diverted to the south, indicating that the charge from the shotgun carried it from the north. The head of Mr. Strong would be on a line with the angle shown by the deviation of the blood stain, and the source of fire would also be on this line. At the morning session the defendant was able to partially destroy the doctor's testimony, owing to the fact that the positions of Mr. Crumley and Mr. Strong, according to the testimony, were not on the same line as the spots of blood. The blood-stains are nearly opposite the cigar case. In the afternoon Dr. McGruder was recalled and swore that the man who fired the shot was north of Mr. Strong when the shot was fired. He produced a volume on medical jurisprudence to bear out his testimony. In the cross-examination Dr. McGruder acknowledged that he had a conversation with District Attorney Trowbridge during the noon recess.

When the trial was resumed this morning, John B. Neville was again called to the stand, but his examination was not completed. C. A. Prentice, the prosecuting witness, was next called. He testified along the same lines as did Mr. Fitch and Mr. Neville. Prentice said that in the scuffle at the bar Crumley had hold of him, see-sawing with him, but that he could not see Strong. When Crumley disappeared around the screen the witness said that Strong remarked: "It is all off" and with apparent anger took Upon cross-examination, he stated that the shooting took place between 5:30 and 6 o'clock. He said that Strong did not put his gun in his pocket and denied that Robert Burns handed the shotgun to Crumley. He said that the gun was lying in the window seat and Burns was sitting in the window. He further stated that Strong fell backward on his back, and that Crumley was eight or 10 feet from Strong when he fired the shot. Strong's feet when he fell were from one to one and one-half feet south of the screen. McAfee further stated that Mr. Neville moved the body when he took the gun away from Strong. He thought the body was moved two feet north at this time. The state attempted to prove that McAfee, who was behind the bar, could not see both Strong and Crumley if, as he stated, he was three feet north of the screen and if Strong was shot when south of the screen.

Robert Burns proved to be a strong witness for the defense. On the morning of the affair he was employed at the Newport at the roulette wheel and according to his testimony, when he heard Strong say to Crumley "I will kill you," he went from the roulette wheel to the window behind the cigar case, where he picked up a Winchester rifle. All he knew of the affair was that Crumley came running around the screen, through the passage behind the cigar case, to the window, where he got the shotgun and turned and shot Strong just as Strong was coming around the screen. Burns states that Strong had a revolver in his hand and it was pointed in Crumley's direction.

In the cross-examination Judge Stimson advanced toward Burns and holding the shotgun in his hand toward Burns, said: "How did you hand this gun to Crumley?" Burns said: "I did not hand it to him." Upon being further cross examined Burns said that Crumley, just as he reached for the gun, said: "Strong is going to kill me." Burns then testified that Strong fell with his head towards the radiator and his feet towards the screen. He further said that Neville had moved the body five or six feet. In answer to a question he stated that Crumley was six feet from Strong when the shot was fired and that Strong was 12 inches in front of the screen and about six inches west of the end of the screen.

ELKTON

Special to the Gazette.

Elkton, Nov. 4. Tonight at Bernard's hall the Republicans held the final stand rally of the campaign. Elkton is considered the banner Democratic precinct of Teller county, and the Republicans have been doing much work to change this condition of affairs. Tonight's meeting was a grand success, the attendance being very large. The candidates on the Republican ticket were present and all made short addresses. Each was greeted with much applause. Refreshments were served.

Dr. Polly is in Canon City on business.

Justice of the Peace McMurtrie of Cameron, has opened up a grocery store in Elkton.

Douglas Bernard left this morning for his home in Colorado Springs. He will return on Wednesday.

Rev. G. W. Barr has gone to Elkhart, Ind., where he has been summoned by the serious illness of his father.

ELECTION IN KANSAS

By Associated Press.

Topeka, Nov. 4. The election in Kansas tomorrow will be for township officers and county commissioners, yet there is an interest shown more than local. Party lines are closely drawn and there is a general feeling that the winning party will be in good shape to control the state election next year.

There are three candidates for governor among the Republicans and the political managers of each are keeping a close watch on the situation throughout the state. The election will also be interesting as giving an idea of the political complexion of the next legislature.

SMALLPOX AMONG INDIANS.

By Associated Press.

Omaha, Nov. 4. The report that malignant small pox is epidemic and causing scores of death among the Indians on the Winnebago reservation appears to be exaggerated.

Deputy United States Marshal Allen, who returned from the Winnebago reservation last Saturday says that the deaths to that date resulting from smallpox numbered 20. It has been ten days since an Indian has died and it is the opinion of the reservation doctor that the disease is under control.

PLAGUE SITUATION.

Liverpool, Nov. 4. No fresh cases of the bubonic plague were officially announced today and United States Consul Royle considers the situation altogether favorable.

Elgin Butter Market.

By Associated Press.

Elgin, Ills., Nov. 4. The butter market remained unchanged today, being declared firm at 22 cents. There were no offerings and no regular sales. The sales of the week aggregate 6,000 pounds.

THE CONTEST IN ARAPAHOE

Republicans Might Have Won by at Least 10,000 Majority.

RESULT INVOLVED IN DOUBT

Both Sides Claim Victory---Federal Officeholders Active---Deputies and Specials Appointed.

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, Nov. 4. Six weeks ago 50 per cent of the Democrats and 90 per cent of the Republicans of Denver would have wagered that the Republican party would carry Arapahoe county by at least 10,000 majority at the coming election.

The Democrats were divided into warring factions and public scandals of all kinds attached to their administration of affairs. They nominated a ticket of only average strength and with two very weak candidates. The Denver News bolted those two candidates.

Then followed the Republican convention and a good ticket was named, but the methods pursued in controlling the convention by the federal officeholders and discredited outside politicians were so obnoxious to the party that a large bolt was immediately inaugurated and two independent tickets were put in the field, one an old soldiers' ticket and the other a law and order ticket. The Republican campaign was entrusted to the federal officeholders to run with the United States marshal as chairman, the deputy postmaster as secretary and the postoffice inspector as head of the canvassers bureau. This has not been pleasing to the rank and file of Republican workers and the result is that the Democrats have taken a new lease of life, the Democratic breach has been healed, the News has fallen into line for the entire ticket and the powerful machinery of the Democratic state and county government has been set in motion to elect the entire Democratic ticket. The Republican business element feels sore because their requests were ignored in the Republican convention and the First National bank and other strong business institutions are not very enthusiastic in their support of the ticket.

However, the digest is so general and great with Democratic pluralities that the indications are that the Republican ticket will be defeated by a small majority. Leading Republicans had hoped sometime ago to win such a sweeping victory as to impress and encourage the entire state, but such a result as that is not now hoped for by the most sanguine Republicans.

The Republican leaders claim the county by from 2,000 to 5,000 majority. The Democratic leaders are equally certain that they will elect their entire ticket by from 5,000 to 8,000.

The Democratic women have been very active and energetic, while the Republican women have not taken the interest in the campaign which they did last fall.

Sheriff Jones has appointed a large number of deputies to look after the good order of the election and the fire and police board has appointed a large number of special policemen for the same purpose.

The indications are that there will not be much scratching of the ballots and that which ever party wins it will result in the election of the entire party ticket. There is much talk of frauds on both sides, but the strong probabilities are that the election will be a quiet, orderly and honest one.

OHIO REPUBLICANS ARE CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS

By Associated Press.

Columbus, O., Nov. 4. The apathy that has prevailed during the present campaign in Ohio continues up to the eve of the election. The campaign has been as quiet as it was short. The falling off of the registration in the larger cities, the unusually indefinite indications of the poll books and the general lack of interest have put the leaders to guessing. While the Republicans are confident of winning, they fear that the small vote may greatly reduce the pluralities that they expected on the state ticket and probably make the result in the legislature close on joint ballot for senator. The Democrats are depending on the traditional results of "off years," in Ohio, and on their opponents being greater sufferers from this shortage in the vote. They say the Republicans are having trouble in all of the larger cities on which they depend for their pluralities, that the rural districts are Democratic and not disturbed by local differences as are the cities and that the accidents are all their way.

Local affairs enter into the election tomorrow more than usual. Besides a full state ticket and members of the legislature, there are full county tickets. In Cincinnati the vote on the extension of the lease on the Cincinnati Southern railroad is a most important factor. In Cleveland Mayor Johnson's taxation theory and factional trouble complicate the situation. In Toledo the other centennial controversy and in Columbus "local option," and other questions are diverting attention from both national and state issues.

The discussions have not been on the usual line of specific issues. The Republicans accepted Senator Hanna's appeal to "let well enough alone," and the Democrats replied: "Let us do better."

In his last appeal to voters today Chairman Dick of the Republican state committee repeated the keynote of standing by the principles of McKinley and supporting President Roosevelt in carrying out the same. Chairman Dick predicted a larger Republican plurality than two years ago and a majority of 11 senators and of 30 representatives or 41 on joint ballot if a full vote is cast. Secretary Gillian and Colonel W. A. Taylor estimate the reverse and Taylor gives figures on a peculiar system of percentages in the shortage of the vote.

The weather, which has been unusually pleasant throughout the campaign, became very disagreeable last night and the indications are that it will continue cold and threatening tomorrow.

Advices from different parts of Ohio tonight indicate great interest in doubtful counties in the contest for members of the legislature. Senators Forake and Hanna are virtually interested in the legislative contests, and both have appeared repeatedly on the same platform in their campaign for both the state and legislative tickets.

The vote tomorrow will be compared with governor two years ago, when 920,872 votes were cast, and Governor Nash, Republican, had a plurality of 49,028 over John R. McLean, Democrat. Two years ago, 106,121 votes were cast for Mayor Jones of Toledo, non-partisan candidate and 16,063 votes for other minor candidates. The vote for minor candidates will be about the same tomorrow. The Jones vote of 1899 will materially affect the comparisons and especially Cleveland and Toledo, as Jones then carried both Cuyahoga and Lucas counties. In 1899 there were 3,109 precincts in the state, this year there are 3,224 precincts. Both sides tonight repeat their previous claims. The betting is at various odds on the Republicans and mostly on the size of the majority. The most splitted betting is on the legislative results in Cuyahoga, Franklin and other doubtful counties. Cold weather continues over the state.

NO GANG

Dictated the nominations of the Republican convention. The free sentiment of the Republican voters of the county selected what is universally conceded to be one of the best tickets ever presented to the people of El Paso county.

NEWS NOTES FROM DENVER

Both Republicans and Democrats Claim Election by Considerable Margins.

Denver Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette.

Denver, Nov. 4.—Both political parties are claiming tomorrow's election in Arapahoe county. Chairman Bailey for the Republicans says the entire Republican ticket will be elected by majorities ranging from 2,000 to 3,500, while Chairman Whitford, for the Democrats, is equally as confident that his party will have 5,000 votes to spare and still elect their candidates. At 8 o'clock tonight the betting was 50 to 25 that the entire Democratic ticket except Atchele, for county clerk, would be elected. With Atchele the bet is 50 to 40. The fire and police board gave out the customary election rule to the police today and Sheriff Jones has likewise instructed his deputies. Late this evening Jones issued a proclamation saying that the laws with regard to saloons closing will be rigidly enforced. Both sides claim that the other is attempting to carry the election through fraud.

Governor Orman today appointed W. C. Jones of Colorado Springs trustee of the Mute and Blind Institute at that place, to fill the position of A. L. Lawton, recently deceased.

The state house will be closed all day tomorrow on account of the election. In fact, most of the offices were closed early this afternoon in order to allow the occupants time to get to their several homes tonight. Game Commissioner Harris concluded early in the day that the wild game of the state could get along without him until Wednesday, so he tacked up the following sign and went home: "Gone down to vote the Democratic ticket. Public advised to do likewise."

Judge Palmer this morning handed down one of the most important oral decisions yet rendered in the history of the city of Denver. He decided that the assessment for the construction of the Fourteenth street viaduct is invalid and he also issued an injunction restraining the city officials from collecting the same. His opinion and belief is that the viaduct which crosses the railroad on Fourteenth street connecting the Highlands with the business portion of the city is a public improvement which benefits the entire city and as such ought to be paid for by the city, instead of by the property owners in the immediate vicinity of the viaduct. The decision was rendered in a suit started by the property owners who have been assessed to pay for the structure and who contend that if they are forced to pay the amount of their assessment, it will be a confiscation of their property as the assessment in some cases is said to be as much as the property is worth. A motion for a new trial was overruled, but the attorneys for the state gave notice that they would appeal from the court's decision. The effect of the decision, if sustained in the higher courts, may cause no end of litigation for the city attorney claims that there was a provision in the bonds which were issued to pay for the viaduct that relieved the city of all responsibility and that under the wording of the bonds, the amount cannot be assessed against the city. If this proves to be the case the bond holders will experience considerable difficulty in obtaining the money if they ever get it. Should the supreme court decide that the bonds should be charged to the city, then the bonded indebtedness of the city will be above the constitutional limit, and they would again be invalid. The amount of the bonded indebtedness for the viaduct is $400,000. If this was charged to the city, it would increase the city's indebtedness to $275,000 more than the constitutional limit. Under these conditions if Judge Palmer is upheld, it looks as though the bondholders will lose their $400,000.

Chancellor Buchtel of the Denver university is making a heroic effort to raise $16,000 by November 26, with which to meet an obligation of the college which falls due on that day. He is confident of success.

During the month of October 74,444 pieces of baggage were handled at the union depot against 58,198 for the same month last year. In the month 34,227 pieces were received and 40,207 pieces sent out.

A report to the Post from Boulder says: "The greatest ore strike of the year in this district was made Saturday night in the Concord mine, located on the north side of Four Mile creek and west of the famous Melvina property. Abe Kemp is working the Concord on a bond and lease from P. J. Worley and Fred Eldred of this city. He had been driving a tunnel to cut the main shaft and was in 440 feet and at a depth of 300 feet when he cut a pay streak from 7 to 22 inches in width. Of this five inches is fairly furnished with free gold and tellurium and it is estimated by mining men that the ore for the entire width will run not less than $10,000 to the ton."

The $50,000 damage suit against Henry Bolthoff, the mining machinery man of this city, which was instituted by May Crumley, sometime ago, was thrown out of court this morning by Judge Mullins on the ground of insufficient evidence.

Robert McAllister, deputy state boiler inspector, who was injured by being dragged for a mile by a runaway saddle horse near Creede last Saturday, was brought to Denver today. He is still in a critical condition.

The will of the late Mrs. Eliza Barton has just been filed and through it she bequeathes all of her property to the Protestant Episcopal church to be used to found a "house of rest" for aged people. She names Rev. F. W. Oakes to have charge of the erection and conducting of the institution. A building will soon be erected on the site of her property at 847 Broadway.

Holdups stopped W. A. Goodwin, who is the organist of St. Barnabus church at Sixteenth and Ogden streets, last night, and robbed him of a gold watch and $20. He was on his way home from church when the robbery occurred.

The executive committee of the Western Federation of Miners will hold its annual meeting Tuesday morning at the Mining Exchange building, and the American Federation of Labor will hold a meeting Friday evening. It seems that the two organizations are at outs over some questions and the two meetings will be held not so much to get together as to see that the other does not get ahead.

A creamery and cheese factory is to be established at Erie. William Stephens will have charge of it.

The Pullman company this morning began to build complete cars in the shops in this city. Workmen began [illegible] and before [illegible] other car all of the cars used west of the Missouri river will be built in the Denver shops. At present there are 325 men employed and if complete cars are built here the number of employes will be increased accordingly.

Joseph Haennelt, who has been in jail for the past 18 months, charged with being implicated in the Betts diamond robbery, will be given a trial next Saturday. The trial of the others who are implicated is set for December 4. Haennelt claims that he was promised protection and leniency if he would only confess and tell the details of the robbery, which he did. He now says that he cannot see where the protection came in, as he has been in jail ever since, so he has decided to withdraw his confession and stand trial. Without the confession the police will have a hard time convicting some of those accused.

CRIPPLE CREEK NEWS NOTES

Large Vote Is Promised With Many Scratched Ballots—Republicans Confident.

Cripple Creek Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette.

Cripple Creek, Nov. 4. On the eve of election day both the Republican and Democratic parties are claiming victory. The Socialists claim that they will poll a larger vote than ever before cast for their candidates in Teller county. The Citizens ticket will draw a large number of votes that formerly went to the Democratic ticket. Both the old parties claim the election with majorities ranging from 1,000 to 2,500. The weather today was fine and if it continues through tomorrow an exceedingly large vote will be cast. Every available vehicle has been engaged to carry the voters to the polls. There promises to be fewer straight tickets cast than at any previous election in the county. There is no doubt about this fact, and the Republicans claim that in the scratching of ballots their party will have the best of the argument. Tonight the headquarters of the parties are scenes of much activity. At Republican headquarters the managers have made good plans to thwart any Democratic repeating or illegal voting. The Democrats have the election machinery, and it is alleged without denial that tomorrow they will use it unlawfully. The army of clerks in the office of County Clerk Mannix have been busy during the past two months upon registration. The Republicans are confident that with a fair election and a fair count, their entire ticket from the constable at Love to Sheriff Crowder will be elected.

NEWS NOTES FROM VICTOR

Depositions Taken In the Doyle-Burns Suit---Hollywood Town Site.

Victor Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette.

Victor, Nov. 4. Depositions were taken here today relating to the Doyle-Burns suit to be tried at Council Bluffs this month. The depositions were taken before Harvey S. Dye, a notary public. The men examined were E. M. Stephenson of Loveland, who went into the Cripple Creek district with Burns and locating the ground [illegible] and other lodes of the Portland; Harry Hadley, a pioneer of the district, who did the assessment work on the Anna Lee and Doubtful lodes, also gave testimony. The men were examined by Scott Ashton, Mr. Doyle's attorney, and were cross-examined by T. M. Patterson and A. T. Gunnell. The examination took place in Mr. Doyle's office in the Doyle block. Mr. Doyle was present as was James F. Burns, J. W. Schofield and John C. Frasier.

A decision rendered at the Pueblo land office will, it is stated, remove two families from the townsite of Hollywood to the quarters of a mile north east of this city. The contest in one that has been pending in the land office for the past three years, and involved valuable property. J. H. Broderick made application for a patent for the Lillian lode and subsequently application was made for the same property as a townsite. W. P. Seeds, then county judge of Teller county, as trustee for the townsite settlers, protested against the application of Broderick. Thirty houses have been built upon the land and this was introduced as evidence in the case. Notwithstanding the fight that has been made, it is stated that the Lillian lode will go to patent and that the people living upon the land will have to secure new title.

Fire at 3:30 o'clock this morning destroyed the home of Mr. White at Eighth street and Lee avenue. There were no facilities for fighting the fire and the house and contents were totally destroyed. The loss is in the neighborhood of $1,500, partially covered by insurance. It is thought that the fire originated from an over-heated stove. Mr. and Mrs. White escaped from the house with difficulty, although neither was injured.

Family trouble led Mrs. Mart Moran, of Independence, to attempt suicide last night by taking morphine. Physicians were summoned and her life was saved.

At an early hour this morning fire was discovered in the home of P. R. Brady in Eclipse gulch. Before the flames were extinguished damage to the amount of $75 was done.

James Burns, president of the Portland G. M. Co., and T. M. Patterson, his attorney, were in the city today on legal matters.

City Clerk John S. Babcock has returned from Colorado Springs, where on Saturday he represented Unity Lodge A. O. U. A. M. at the funeral of the late P. W. Sweeney.

GRAND JUNCTION SUGAR FACTORY

Special to the Gazette.

Grand Junction, Nov. 4. Workmen have been busy for weeks getting things in readyiness at the factory of the Colorado Sugar Beet plant in this city. New belting has been placed on all of the machinery needing it and every part has been overhauled and now everything is ready to start the ponderous machinery on Thursday morning of this week.

The management has estimated that there has been enough beets raised in Grand Valley to keep the factory going for forty days. While the beets are not as large as former years, yet the chemists claim that there is more saccharine matter in them and the output of the factory may be even better than last season.

It is hoped and expected that thousands of acres will be planted next season to sugar beets in the Grand valley. If the High Line canal, which Hon. George Smith is promoting, is constructed during the present winter months 40,000 acres more of desert land will come under cultivation by next spring and with this much additional land all the beets can be raised to keep the factory busy for six months. The beets raised on the western slope have been tested and pronounced equal to, if not superior, to any raised in California.

sion dated August 10, 1898, issued during a recess of congress and that the words "nominated by and with the advice and consent of the senate," were stricken out. "It will appear, of course," said Captain Lemly, "exactly as it appears here."

Captain Parker—This commission was issued under the law that authorized it, "for gallant conduct in battle."

In reply to a question by Admiral Dewey, Captain Lemly said: "It is signed by the president. It was a recess appointment but the court will remember that none of those ad interim appointments were confirmed by the senate."

Admiral Dewey—It is valueless if it has not been confirmed by the senate. It can go in, but it has no value, of course.

At this point the court took a recess until 2 o'clock.

When the court reconvened after recess, Admiral Dewey handed to Captain Lemly and the latter read the following announcement:

"The court states that while it has admitted to its record a document presented by counsel for the applicant, which was issued to the applicant by the president of the United States on August 10, 1898, the court does not recognize such document as the commission under which the applicant holds his present office in the navy."

Immediately after the reading of this statement, the argument in the case was begun. Mr. E. P. Hanna, assistant to Judge Advocate Lemly, opening for the government. Mr. Hanna began his argument by reciting the fact that in May, 1898, the coast of the United States was menaced by the Spanish fleet. This, he said, was a critical time. The seaboard cities were exposed to attack. Military operations were pending for the relief of Havana and the fleet must be carried out while the whereabouts of the Spanish fleet was unknown.

Mr. Hanna then referred to the arrival of the flying squadron at Key West and read a number of preliminary orders to Commodore Schley. Speaking of the run of the flying squadron from Key West to Cienfuegos Mr. Hanna claimed that the trip was not made as expeditiously as possible. He cited the fact that the Iowa, which went by way of Havana made much better time.

Continuing, Mr. Hanna related the particulars of the meeting between Commodore Schley and Captain McCalla as the former was on his way to Cienfuegos. "Captain McCalla," he said, "did not know that Commodore Schley was on his way to Cienfuegos, while Commodore Schley did know that McCalla had been there. Under such circumstances," he continued, "the ordinary rules governing the intercourse between senior and junior officers did not pertain. In that case the burden of calling for information was based upon the senior officer. Yet it is in evidence that the commodore did not request anything from Captain McCalla."

The meeting with Captain Chester of the Cincinnati, also was referred to, and the circumstances that, notwithstanding he had no information to impart, he was taken aboard the Brooklyn and the flying squadron detained for an hour and 25 minutes, to permit a conversation with him on the part of the commodore. This incident was contrasted with the delay in proceeding to Cienfuegos.

Mr. Hanna also referred to the arrival at Cienfuegos, speaking of the reports of guns heard by Admiral Schley and of the meeting with the British steamer Adula.

Mr. Hanna then read the order of Admiral Sampson to Commodore Schley, dated May 19, 1898, directing the latter to take steps to prevent the enemy from continuing work on the new fortifications at Cienfuegos. "It does not appear," continued Mr. Hanna, "that any steps were taken to prevent work on these new fortifications. In fact, this order was not, so far as the testimony shows, in any way regarded. No gun was fired at Cienfuegos by the flying squadron for any purpose except by Captain McCalla who asked and obtained permission to knock down a block house some miles from the entrance to the harbor."

He discussed the question of McCalla's signal code for communication with the Cuban insurgents on the shore at Cienfuegos at some length. He said that while Captain Cook had stated that the lights provided for in that code first appeared on May 22, Admiral Schley had stated that they were not visible until the night of the 23rd. Other witnesses had placed the date at the 22nd. This Mr. Hanna said, he considered an important point, for, if the lights were seen on the 22nd, the circumstances connected with the McCalla memoranda would have rendered it incumbent upon the commodore to investigate them. Moreover an investigation would have developed the fact that the lights were located at the point where McCalla's memoranda showed that there was a cove where landing would be feasible.

"The surf was examined, as the testimony shows," continued Mr. Hanna, "from the ships which were lying at a considerable distance from the shore and was not more closely inspected. No attempt to land was made by any boat."

Mr. Hanna called attention to Admiral Schley's statement as made in his letter to the senate that he did not know of the presence of the insurgents in the vicinity of Cienfuegos until the arrival of Captain McCalla, May 24, but he called attention to the fact that it has admitted that the McCalla memoranda giving the information had been received on the 23rd. He contended that Admiral Schley should himself have taken the initiative in ascertaining the presence or absence of insurgents without waiting for signals from any one.

Mr. Hanna then took up the question of the blockade at Cienfuegos. He said that Admiral Schley had testified that [illegible] to induce the enemy to come out. He called attention to the fact that this was not communicated to the captains of any of the vessels. He read then from the official documents to show that coaling was a practicability and that it was continuously going on at the time reports regarding its impracticability were made.

He then proceeded to follow the operations of the flying squadron and quoted a number of Admiral Schley's dispatches. He said that at the time of leaving Cienfuegos, Schley was under order No. 8, telling him if he was satisfied that the Spanish fleet was not at Cienfuegos to proceed with all dispatch, but cautiously, to Santiago.

"How it was possible," said the speaker, "in view of this order to report to the secretary of the navy at Admiral Schley did that he would not move until the next day is inexplicable." He then stated that while Admiral Schley had reported that he would not leave until the 25th he did actually start on the evening of the 24th.

Mr. Hanna also quoted the order directing Commodore Schley to leave Cienfuegos before daylight of May 23, and said that as this order had directed that it possible the squadron should leave before the night of that day, it should be construed as a message of urgency.

"Almost every word of this message imports haste and urgency," he said. "Evidently," he added, "the commander-in-chief did not expect Commodore Schley to remain at Cienfuegos after its receipt." He then proceeded to show that while this dispatch bore the same date as No. 8, it was really later because while No. 8 had been dated at Key West, the above order had not been written until the arrival of Admiral Sampson at Havana, nine miles eastward. Hence he contended that this order should have superseded No. 8. "Clearly, then," he said, "Commodore Schley was under urgent instructions to leave for Santiago; he did not do so, but did not leave until the evening of the next day."

Respecting the order that the flying squadron on leaving Cienfuegos should mask its movements, Mr. Hanna said that this order was not carried out.

"This concludes the subject of the first and second specifications," said Mr. Hanna.

He presented the following points covering the following specifications which, he said, he had made in the form of inquiries:

1. Why the flying squadron was dilatory in arriving at Cienfuegos.

2. Why the squadron was held there after the receipt of Sampson's order written and dated off Havana, May 21, saying: "Be at Santiago May 24."

3. Why nothing was done to communicate with the Cubans after the receipt of the McCalla memorandum 5:15 May 23; and particularly why the three light signals that had attracted general attention on board the fleet were not investigated after Commodore Schley learned that there were Cubans in the neighborhood where such signals were displayed.

4. Why order No. 8 directing that steps be taken to prevent the enemy from continuing work on certain new fortifications was not obeyed.

5. Why the order directing the masking of the fleet on leaving Cienfuegos was not obeyed.

6. The nature and causes of the current said to have accounted for the steaming of the ships off shore at night while on blockade at Cienfuegos.

7. Why, after learning positively that the Spanish squadron was not there and accepting this report as conclusive, the commodore sent official letters and telegrams saying not that he would leave at once, but on the following day.

8. Why the commodore failed to report to any high authority that he actually did leave Cienfuegos on the evening of the 24th if, as appears, he did so fail to report, and especially

9. Why, irrespective of signals, orders or aids from any source, the commanding officer of the flying squadron did not, while at Cienfuegos, of his own motion, and with the resources under his command, do something to gain information of the Spanish fleet.

Mr. Hanna then took up the third specification of the precept, concerning the decision from Cienfuegos to Santiago. The testimony was, he said, uniform to the effect that the run was a slow one and that it did not proceed with dispatch as directed.

"As to whether the fighting ships should have been held back for the Eagle I do not express an opinion before this court," said Mr. Hanna, and then with this sentence he handed the squadron 25 miles south of Santiago, May 26, and then took up the retrograde movement. Mr. Hanna said there had been no explanation of the fact that the squadron had stopped no far south of Santiago nor of the circumstances that, after passing the longitude of Santiago he had continued to the eastward except that on the latter point Admiral Schley had said that at the time he was asleep.

It was at this point that the scout boats St. Paul, Minneapolis and Yale were encountered and Mr. Hanna referred to this incident, narrating Captain Sigsbee's visit to Commodore Schley on board the Brooklyn and the contradictory testimony concerning the purport of the captain's communication for himself and Captains Jewell and Wise. He quoted Captain Sigsbee's testimony to the effect that he had not told the commodore that the Spanish fleet was not in Santiago and also gave Admiral Schley's version of the interview, claiming that Sigsbee did say that the Spaniards were not there. Captain Sigsbee, was an officer of experience and knew very well that the fact that he had not seen the fleet was not evidence that the fleet was not there. If Captain Sigsbee had said positively the fleet was not on the inside Commodore Schley should have refused to accept it as utterly illogical.

Continuing Mr. Hanna said: "I should think that if Commodore Schley had received information that set his mind at rest sufficiently to warrant his turning his squadron back toward Key West, convinced him conclusively that the Spanish fleet was not there, he would surely have stated that in his next telegram to the department."

At this point Mr. Hanna took up specification four referring to the retrograde movement. He said that in making this movement Commodore Schley had not only taken away from Santiago the fighting ships of the flying squadron but also the scout vessels located there by the government to watch the mouth of the harbor.

"During this time," he said, "the gates of the harbor were left entirely unguarded, and it was not our fault that Cervera's fleet did not get away without being destroyed."

Mr. Hanna had not completed his argument when the court adjourned for the day.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT IS INDORSED BY CHAMBER

By Associated Press.

Paris, Nov. 4. In the chamber of deputies today M. Sembat (Radical Socialist), interpellated the government on the Franco-Turkish dispute, criticising the action as being taken for a material end, and contending that France ought to have intervened at the time of Armenian massacres.

The foreign minister, M. Delcasse, replied that France's patience was exhausted by the Porte's breaking its own promises. France, in the present difficulty, pursued no freer advantage but everybody would agree that this effort on the part of France ought to at least serve to put an end to the annoyances and unjust treatment of which French works in the orient, scholastic and hospital establishments, and commercial and industrial enterprises had been the object. He added:

"Unless parliament arrests our action the government wishes to show that France, after exemplary patience, has other things to oppose to the long and persistent refusals to do justice than simple observation. The government intervened in the quays question in order to get Turkey to fulfill her engagements. If the government had not done so there would have been an end of the numerous enterprises which France had created in Turkey in the shape of railroads, roads, light houses and banks.

"The porte has also persisted in the [illegible] M. M. Tubini and Lorando, in spite of the decrees of the tribunals in their favor. The government will only present to the Porte demands which are in conformity with its conscience, and which can be sustained in perfect tranquility of mind before the whole world. The debt has been reduced by a large percentage and the porte, in August, agreed to give satisfaction, but on the morrow, these arrangements were forgotten and others created relations with the Porte. There was no ultimatum, but the cessation of relations indicated that the government took the Porte's word seriously, and that it intended that the engagements entered into should be reserved to itself, fixing the moment for their execution.

"Our rights are certain, and nobody will dispute them. Our action is legitimate, and nobody can take umbrage at it, and as our patience has been long, so our action must be more resolute."

As to Armenia, M. Delcasse said that during the past three years he had not overlooked the question and while defending France's material interests, he had displayed equal solicitude for her moral interests and for our traditions.

M. Delcasse said also that the appearance of French cruisers off the Turkish coast had several times proved that France had not forgotten the protection she owed to Christians, and the latter understood this. It was true that the reforms promised the Armenians had not been executed, that the Armenians had too often been the victims of unpunished outrages, and that oppression also reigned in Macedonia and in old Servia. The French government had put forth every effort to restore justice and peace but France was not alone bound by the treaty of Berlin. The chamber could rest assured that the government would never forget its duties to humanity. But it must first of all remember its duty to France.

The foreign minister's statement was greeted with applause.

M. Sembat was not satisfied with M. Delcasse's statements and moved that the chamber, convinced that France would fail in her duty if she did not protect the Armenians in an effectual manner, resolves that the government facilitate this protection by an agreement between the powers.

The premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau, then rose and said that M. Delcasse's declarations showed that the government's task was heavy and complicated. As the government desired respect for the interests of its fellow citizens, so it intended to defend the patrimony of moral interests devolving on France. It needed the confidence of the chamber in order to accomplish its task.

M. Sembat's motion was rejected by 394 to 75 votes.

M. Castenet then moved that the chamber, confident that the government would enforce respect for the interests, and honor of France, pass to the order of the day.

The chamber then by 305 to 71 votes sustained the government's action toward Turkey, and expressed the confidence in the government.

Prior to the debate on the Turkish incident, M. Berry asked leave to interpellate the government regarding the measures it proposed to take in accord with other governments to call upon the British government to remove the women and children in the South African concillation camps to healthful districts.

M. Deschanel, president of the chamber, remarked that it would be difficult to interpellate the French government for the note of the British government.

After a brief discussion during which M. Millevoye was called to order for speaking of Mr. Chamberlain, the British colonial secretary, as a coward and an assassin, the chamber decided to debate M. Berry's interpellation at a later date.

CHALLENGE OF VOTERS WILL BE A FEATURE

By Associated Press.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 4. It appears tonight that the special feature of the election in Louisville tomorrow, when a mayor and a full city and county and legislative tickets will be voted for, will be the attempt of the Republicans to challenge Democratic voters whom they suspect of being illegally registered. The Republican managers will have men at the polls in each precinct with a list of names of persons who, the Republicans allege, are illegally registered. They declare they will challenge the vote of any person on the list who offers to vote. The Republican managers sent circular letters through the mails to the persons in question, and say a large number were returned by the letter carriers with the indorsement that the person to whom the letter was addressed was not to be found at the address given. As this address was that from which the person had registered the Republicans regard the nondelivery of the letters as presumption of illegal registration. They threaten that if such persons offer to vote they will be arrested. The Democrats deny all charge of illegal registration, and charge the Republicans with attempted intimidation. The weather promises to be clear and cold.

Chairman C. S. McCord of the Democratic state campaign committee tonight gave out a statement in which he says the Democrats will have 22 to 25 of the 38 members of the senate of the next general assembly and from 62 to 65 of the 100 members of the lower house. This general assembly will elect a United States senator to succeed Senator W. J. Deboe.

SENATOR TELLER'S POSITION.

IN AN editorial in the Gazette yesterday morning Senator Teller was classed as a possible Democrat in the next session of the senate. That statement was an inadvertence, as Senator Teller has, both publicly and privately, over and over again, taken the pains to announce that he was not a Democrat. The fact is that Senator Teller has not changed his views on any important public question during the past twenty years.

He has always been a protectionist, an expansionist, a ...

He voted for the ratification of the treaty with Spain as well as for all other administration measures in the settlement of questions growing out of the war and it was his vote that twice saved President McKinley's measures during that period.

Senator Teller occupies a powerful position in the United States senate. He has the unqualified respect of all of the members and he is accorded closer attention in his speeches than any other senator with the possible exception of Senator Morgan of Alabama. Having been a cabinet officer himself he has the ready entre to all of the departments and great influence in department work.

Senator Teller's position in the politics of Colorado is one of the most unique and powerful of that of any person in our political history. Without claiming allegiance to any particular political party he is stronger than any party leader in the state. He has a hold upon the affection, admiration and respect of the Colorado people very similar to that exercised by Gladstone upon the English people.

However much we may differ from Senator Teller in his views we still must concede that he is the "Grand Old Man of Colorado" in the estimation of ninety per cent of its people.

It is too bad that he cannot find it consistent with his convictions to return to the Republican party in the same manner that Jones and Stewart have returned. The money question is settled for this generation, at least, and on all other public questions Senator Teller is in accord with the principles of the national Republican party.

His friends suggest that the all-powerful reason why he cannot return is the nature and character of the Republican leadership in Colorado, but they must realize that with his return such leadership could not last over night. The rank and file of the party in the state will not long permit it to exist in any event, but Teller could render an invaluable service to the cause of good government and party purification by taking the same bold stand so recently taken by Jones and Stewart in Nevada.

Teller will be the dominant factor in the settlement of the state contest next year and it is worth while for all patriotic Republicans to encourage his re-entry to the Republican party.

THE SCHLEY INQUIRY.

WHATEVER the formal findings of the Schley court of inquiry may be, one thing is settled, and that is that the testimony has given an entirely new version to the history of the battle of Santiago. From the effusions which were issued shortly after that battle the public was led to believe that "Fighting Bob" Evans and other captains were the ones who in reality fought the battle, while Schley and Clark and Cook were endeavoring to run away. The testimony before the court of inquiry has rudely shattered several of these self-constructed idols. The testimony is quite unanimous in demonstrating that the real battle was fought by the Brooklyn and Oregon alone, and that the other ships were not close enough to even get a whiff of the powder-laden air.

Shortly after the battle of Santiago the Century Magazine contained articles as to how the battle was won, from the pen of Captain Evans, Captain Chadwick and other captains "who were not there," but nothing emanated from the pen of Captain Clark or Admiral Schley, who in reality were there.

The following from the Chicago Tribune is an excellent review of the former history of the battle of Santiago and that furnished by the recent testimony in the court of inquiry:

> Now, three years after the event, the real history of the battle of Santiago is written for the first time by "the men who were there." What an amazing thing! The new history differs totally from the testimony of "the men who were not there," and who magnified their own services, while some of them spewed out their venom on the real fighters of the battle. The "men who were not there" wrote their articles and printed their interviews to make it appear that they were "there or thereabouts;" and that being in the neighborhood they naturally did something important. These men were trying to promote their own glory and could not do it without seeking to discredit and disgrace Admiral Schley. They began the work immediately after the victory and they have kept it up persistently until now.
>
> If it had not been for this investigation, which Admiral Schley was forced to call for, that he might set himself right before his countrymen, the true history of the battle of Santiago probably never would have been written. For these false stories were supported by false charts. The wrong man might forever have posed as a great hero, shooting off Spanish bows and sterns, and ... fore and aft, if no one had taken the trouble to contradict him, and demonstrate that during most of the fight "he was not there." But rank partisanship, conspiracy, malice, envy, and hatred have been of no avail, and justice has been done at last.
>
> The real history of the battle may be stated in a few words. The original plan, conceived by Sampson, was to meet the Spanish ships as they came out and sink them at the mouth of the harbor. The plan failed. The only Spanish vessel sunk in this manner was the Maria Teresa, and it was hit so many times that nobody has been able to say who hit it hardest or oftenest. The others, all swift cruisers, nearly got away from our slow, heavy battleships, and would have done so altogether but for the Brooklyn and Oregon, which followed them, ran them down, and sank them one after the other. The Texas could keep in sight of the two, but was not near enough to be an active participant. It only did what it could and that was little. The others were "not in it."
>
> Three days of the most unfair, malignant, and bitter cross-examination ever allowed in any court, conducted by an angry, malevolent judge advocate, assisted by partisan lawyers in the background, and backed up by the navy department still further in the rear, failed to weaken this new testimony. It is clear, therefore, that the battle of Santiago was, in the main, not fought by the north Atlantic and the flying squadrons, but by the Brooklyn and Oregon, with some assistance from the Texas and much good work by Wainwright's gallant little ship. The only real connection of the squadrons with the battle was the almost instant destruction of the Maria Teresa, in which all the ships united. After that the real battle began and the Brooklyn and Oregon fought it to a finish alone. The Gloucester's sinking of the torpedo boats was a splendid fight of its own a sort of side show to the main spectacle.
>
> "The men who were there" have exercised wonderful self-control. They have shown the same spirit that animated Admiral Schley in his fine statement, "There is glory enough for us all." They have been modest in the relation of the real history of the battle. Their narratives agree at all points. Rigid cross-examination has failed to shake their statements, which will stand as the real history of the battle. "The men who were there" have shown themselves as modest as they are brave, while "the men who were not there" have in a few instances reflected no honor on the American navy. Whatever else may be the outcome of the court of inquiry, it has been of the highest importance to the correctness of history.

The Pittsburg Despatch reviewing the testimony presented to the court of inquiry contains the following pertinent statement:

> The only point upon which the department sought to fix a dereliction was in the matter of a written plan of battle. The absurdity of seeking to find fault with a victorious commander because he had not won the battle upon a typewritten schedule must have appealed forcibly to Admiral Dewey. It is not on record that a menu of attack was furnished the ships' captains during that half hour intermission for breakfast in Manila bay.

The most complete rebuke to the enemies of Admiral Schley was given in two paragraphs of his testimony the last day he was on the witness stand. The Brooklyn, he testified, was the only ship carrying 5-inch guns. "A record of the hits received by the enemy showed that 30 per cent of the hits scored by the American fleet came from the guns of the Brooklyn. The Brooklyn received 30 of the 42 hits from the Spanish fleet, or about 70 per cent."

The whole controversy with reference to Admiral Schley was brought about by Crowninshield's policy of promoting Sampson over the head of senior officers, and vesting him with command of the Atlantic squadron in place of those who had fairly won the position in their country's service. Having taken that false step, and Sampson having been unfortunate enough not to be present at the battle of Santiago, it became necessary for the Crowninshield clique to make a hero out of him whether he was really one or not. To do this involved the destruction of Admiral Schley as a preliminary step. Sampson is really not responsible for the contemptible acts done by those around him or even under him.

It is demonstrated now beyond question that the dispatch of July 3, in which Sampson claimed credit for the victory, was sent by one of his secretaries without having been previously submitted to him. It also appears that the Maclay history, in which Admiral Schley was called a coward and a caitiff, was never reviewed by Sampson, but on the contrary he took the manuscript containing the part referring to Schley and read it through hastily, and then threw it in the waste basket, declaring that such stuff was false. It was rescued from that humble position by another officious secretary and was returned to Maclay apparently with the approval of Admiral Sampson.

The Sampson-Schley controversy demonstrates that whatever jealousies may exist between men in other professions or walks of life, that nowhere is there any such rancor or spirit of character assassination as exists among some of the naval officials now in the employ of the government.

The whole controversy has been discreditable to the American nation, and it is a source of gratification to every patriotic citizen to know that the small souls which inspired the attack upon Schley have been utterly routed and put to flight, and that his bravery and devotion to his country stand out with renewed glory upon the pages of our history.

A SUGGESTION TO THE MUNICIPAL LEAGUE.

EVERY city in the country has suffered from the fly-by-night merchants, who come in and gouge the public for a short time. Colorado Springs has had her share of them, and in this city the problem has always presented itself how to prevent the evil. These men come in with a stock of goods, mark them "bankrupt," "fire," etc., and after heavy advertising proceed to work the public to buy undesirable stuff that cannot be sold elsewhere. These men are not bound by any laws of trade and they misrepresent and cheat to their heart's desire.

The city of Marquette, Mich., has framed an ordinance on the subject that it is believed will be beneficial. The ordinance requires all retail merchants to pay a license fee of $25 for the first year and $5 for each succeeding year. It further provides that the amount paid shall be allowed as an offset against the personal taxes assessed against the merchant. It will be seen that the fellows who come in for a few weeks must pay the full year's tax. In the end the local man really pays no license because of the rebate.

The license fee can be made high enough to suit the necessities of the times. The merchant's first grievance is that the interloper contributes nothing to the support of the local government. The hotels in Colorado Springs have always contended that because they contribute to municipal government their patrons should have the right to open small stores in their rooms. Under such an ordinance they would probably be compelled to take out a license. There is a nice point involved and we suggest that Mayor Robinson bring the matter up for discussion at the state meeting of municipal officers which gathers in this city soon. The Marquette plan will bear inspection and discussion.

Too Good to Be True.

An Austin man who met one of his acquaintances at lunch the other day said: "I saw your wife yesterday, Parker. She looked terribly worried. What's the matter? None of the children sick, I hope?"

"Oh, no. It's the servant girl question. We had a girl that ... didn't seem to have any more idea of the way things ought to be done in a kitchen than a brindle cat has of algebra. She would serve the coffee in a teapot and set the cream in the oven to keep it from getting sour. She would give us doughnuts that we couldn't eat and order the grocery boy to bring cookies for her own use. As for breaking things, heavens! We had to get a new set of dishes every two weeks, and one evening when I took a friend of mine out home to dinner we were right in the middle of the meal when she came in with her sleeves rolled up to tell us that she had found a mouse drowned in the milk pitcher. Oh, she was a lovely one. It didn't do any good to tell her things, because she kept right on in her own way just the same.

"Well, my wife finally gave up and told her to go. Then we had a streak of luck. We found another cook right off, and, say, I never saw anything like her. She can't find enough things to do. In addition to giving us the best meals we ever had, she washes the windows and scrubs the steps, and blamed if I didn't go home the other evening and find her raking up the leaves in the yard. She's a wonder. That girl's worth $15 a week and we get her for four."

"And she's going to leave you, is she?"

"Leave? Not that I know of. She told my wife the other day that she hoped she could stay with us as long as we kept house, because she never felt so much at home anywhere else."

"But what has all this to do with Mrs. Parker's worried look that I spoke of?"

"That's just it. My wife says there must be something the matter with the girl or she wouldn't work the way she does and stay in at night without asking for the privilege of having company in the house. Unless the girl develops a disagreeable trait of some kind before the beginning of next week she's to be discharged on suspicion."—(Exchange.

The Social Season.

The official program of receptions and dinners to be given at the White house during the season of 1902 has been promulgated by the secretary to the president, George B. Cortelyou. The program is notable for the fact that it is dated from "The White House." Formerly all invitations and announcements were issued from "The Executive Mansion." The official social season is one of the briefest on record. The eight traditional receptions and dinners are included in the month of January, beginning with the New Year's reception and concluding with the army and navy reception on January 30. The other receptions are the diplomatic on January 7, the judicial on January 17 and the congressional on January 23. The three state dinners will be given on January 2, 9 and 16, when the guests of honor will be consecutively the cabinet, the diplomatic corps and the members of the supreme court. There is no official announcement of the public reception which is always scheduled for Shrove Tuesday. The reason of this omission is that Mrs. Roosevelt intends giving three public receptions during December, as hitherto unofficially announced, on the 14th, 21st and 28th. She will also resume Saturday public receptions during the post-Lenten season. The intention is on Shrove Tuesday to give a grand cotillion in honor of Miss Alice Roosevelt, whose 18th birthday occurs on February 8.—(N. Y. Press.

Roosevelt's Southern Policy.

Regardless of mere party considerations, President Roosevelt has determined to apply to the south his principle that the first consideration in appointing men to office must be their personal fitness, and the second must be their reasonable acceptability to the people of the neighborhood where their functions are to be performed. The first opportunity that presented itself for the exemplification of this principle was in Alabama. A vacancy had occurred through the death of a United States district judge. Although the judiciary should be kept as much as possible from mere party associations, it has been the general rule for presidents to fill vacancies on the federal bench with men belonging to their own political party. There were several Republican candidates for the vacant Alabama judgeship, the most prominent of whom was the district attorney. Mr. Roosevelt, however, appointed a Democratic ex-governor, the Hon. Thomas G. Jones. Mr. Jones is not a man of the extreme partisan type, and he has shown himself broad-minded and just in his attitude toward the education of the colored race and in his stern opposition to lynching. It is understood that Mr. Booker T. Washington, who is the most prominent colored Republican of the south, heartily concurred in the selection of ex-Governor Jones. Although the appointment was displeasing to certain organized groups of Republican politicians, there is ample reason for saying that it immensely strengthened the real and permanent interests of the Republican party in the south. It does not mean, of course, that President Roosevelt intends to ignore existing adherents of the Republican party in the Carolinas, Georgia and the gulf states; but he will consult local sentiment and will not appoint Republicans who do not command confidence and respect in their neighborhoods, irrespective of party consideration. In answer to those Republicans who say that this method will destroy the Republican party as now organized in the south, the reply might be made that perhaps destruction of the existing Republican organization, at least in some southern states, is the only possible means by which a real and influential Republican organization can be started. Doubtless Mr. Roosevelt sees with perfect clearness the effect that his southern policy might conceivably have upon his future political fortunes. If he were merely planning to capture the presidential nomination in 1904, nothing would be easier than for him to make southern appointments in such a way as to secure for himself the entire mass of southern Republican delegates. And it is, of course, not impossible that the course he has decided to pursue may alienate the southern delegations, which, accordingly, may be purchased once and again in behalf of presidential candidates with long purses—as everybody knows has happened in times past. But considerations of this kind will not keep Mr. Roosevelt from doing what he believes to be his duty to the south, and, in the long run, to the Republican party. Since there was unanimous agreement upon Mr. McKinley's renomination there was, of course, no struggle over the control of the southern delegates in their last national convention, and there were no pledges to be kept as to appointments. Mr. McKinley's hands were free, and if he had lived his policy in southern appointments would have been shown to be not unlike that which Mr. Roosevelt is pursuing. Thus, the new president is not departing essentially from the principles Mr. McKinley had adopted, notably in South Carolina and Louisiana, and to some extent in other states.—(From "The Progress of the World," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for November.

The first edition of ... copies of "The Making of a Marchioness" has been printed. ... indications are that a remarkably cordial welcome awaits this graceful novel by Frances Hodgson Burnett—the first one from her pen in two years.

FRANK E. CASTELLO MADE A DIRECTOR

The Exchange National Bank Board Elected Him Last Night to Succeed Late Andrew L. Lawton.

The board of directors of the Exchange National bank held an important meeting last evening at which Mr. Frank E. Castello, one of the oldest and most substantial citizens of El Paso county, was elected a member of the board. His election was to fill the vacancy in the board caused by the death of the late A. L. Lawton.

Mr. Castello is one of the men to whom Colorado Springs owes her greatness. He is a business man whose success in the mining business, as it ranks among the best that Cripple Creek has brought out, is not its first success. Mr. Castello was a prominent and wealthy citizen of El Paso county long before Cripple Creek was discovered. He had mercantile interests in the western part of the county that had become very extensive and valuable and the same business foresight and ability that made him a success in handling these interests made him one of the sure successes of Cripple Creek when its development began. He is president and heaviest owner in the Mary McKinney and has other extensive holdings in Cripple Creek. Mr. Castello has long been a stockholder in the Exchange National bank.

Colorado Springs has been the scene of the upbuilding of a great many business institutions of which the citizens are justly proud and it doubtless will continue to be a city of which this is a distinctive feature. There has been none, however, whose pace has been faster or whose progress more steady and secure than that of the Exchange National bank. It is the youngest of the big banks, having been organized in 1888, but only since 1897, when there was a reorganization, has it ranked with the other banks of the city. Since 1897 it has grown to a position that puts it easily in the class with the leading financial institutions of the west. Its record of increase of deposits, from $185,000 in 1897, to approximately $2,750,000 at this date, needs little comment.

No bank in the state or elsewhere in the west has a management that enjoys a better standing in the financial world. The officers are: J. R. McKinnie, president; W. R. Barnes, vice president; A. G. Sharp, cashier; V. C. Talbert, assistant cashier. The directors now are: William Lennox, W. S. Nichols, W. S. Stratton, V. Z. Reed, E. W. Giddings, Jr., J. R. McKinnie, A. S. Holbrook, Frank F. Castello, W. R. Barnes.

Week of Prayer for Young Men

At a meeting of the Ministerial Association yesterday the following recommendation was adopted for the week of prayer for young men, November 10 to 16:

First—That there be union service at once in each of four different churches, beginning on Monday evening and continuing up to and including Friday evening, with the exception of Wednesday evening.

Second—That the Y. M. C. A. work be kept in the foreground, but that "20th Century National Gospel Campaign" suggestions be given part of the time and thought each evening.

Third—That the leaders of these meetings be selected from the religious workers of the local Young Men's Christian association.

Fourth—That all ministers and their members be asked to attend these meetings and aid in every way possible to make them a blessing to our Christian work in the city and nation.

SUGGESTED THEMES:

Monday—"The responsibility of the church for the salvation of the lost, especially for young men."

Tuesday—"Responsibility of parents to win their children to Christ, and the importance of the Junior department of the Y. M. C. A."

Thursday—"The Christian's personal responsibility to win his immediate friends and neighbors to Christ, especially young men working for young men."

Friday—"Stepping stones to the church," as illustrated by Y. M. C. A. work, or "How can the church and individual Christian win to Christ those that have practically no interest in religion and no sympathy with the church?"

The churches selected and the dates are as follows:

Monday evening, November 11, First church.

Tuesday, November 12, First Presbyterian church.

Thursday, November 14, First M. E. church.

Friday, November 15, First Baptist church.

Another Child Bitten by Dog

Another child was bitten by a mad dog in Manitou yesterday afternoon. The circumstances varied very little from the other similar accidents that have occurred there within the past month. This time it was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Tillotson, a family well known in Manitou and Colorado Springs. The child was very severely bitten about the hands and face. A hurried examination late in the afternoon by conclusive evidence that the dog was mad. Preparations were immediately made to have the child taken to the Pasteur Institute in Chicago, and some member of the family will accompany the injured child to Chicago today.

Last Friday the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Creighton was bitten and the week before that nine persons were bitten in West Colorado Springs, all of whom have been taken to Chicago. Two children from this vicinity were still at the institute where they were receiving treatment for hydrophobia bite.

There is much indignation in Manitou and vicinity because the authorities are doing nothing to prevent such occurrences. It is said that there are dogs wandering about the streets. Since there has been such an epidemic of rabies in Manitou and vicinity, it is thought that many dogs might be affected with the dreaded disease and developments may appear at any time. Public sentiment seems to demand that some action be taken to guard against a repetition of such calamities.

Excursion Rates to Pike's Peak's Summit

The cog road will end a prosperous season tomorrow. Two trains will be run to the top of Pike's Peak and when the second returns to Manitou the engine and cars will be housed for the winter. No more passenger trains will be run until next April.

For the last day of the season a special rate will be established. The fare for the round trip will be $2.50. The first train will leave Manitou for the top of the peak at 9:25 a. m., and the second at 1:30 p. m. It is expected that both trains will be crowded.

During the season now at an end nearly 20,000 people went to the top of Pike's Peak on the cog road trains. The tourist throngs in Manitou and Colorado Springs last summer were the greatest in the history of these resorts, and the crowds patronized the famous line to the top of the peak.

COUNCIL TRANSACTS MUCH BUSINESS OF IMPORTANCE

The city council met in regular session last night. All the aldermen were present except Dr. Madden of the Fifth ward. President McIntyre occupied the chair.

The finance committee reported that 30 of the $1,000 city hall bonds had been delivered to Hollins and Sons, the Denver bond buyers, and that it had paid the city $30,000. Alderman McIntyre, of the public grounds and buildings committee, reported that everything was in readiness for the taking up of the option on the lots held by W. S. Stratton. He stated that Mr. Stratton was ready to give a warranty deed to the city for the six lots at once and the public grounds and buildings committee was instructed to turn over to Mr. Stratton the money for the lots and take in exchange the deed. The price of the lots including interest is $29,073.33. The interest amounts to $1,073.33 and the purchase price of the lots is $28,000. A warrant was ordered drawn against the $50,000 city hall fund now in the treasury for the payment of the same.

Upon recommendation of Chief Batty and on motion of Alderman Stark, the fire committee was instructed to purchase a Gamewell storage battery for the fire alarm system. The battery will cost $1,200 but can be paid for in yearly instalments of $400 which in the sum now required to keep the gravity battery in condition. The new battery will save much expense in maintenance.

The police magistrate reported $250.35 collected in fines and turned over to the treasurer. The building inspector reported $112.50 in fees collected and turned over to the treasury. These reports were for the month of October. They were referred to the finance committee. The monthly reports of the city engineer, health commissioner and chief of the fire department were read and placed on file.

Bills to the amount of $12,037.03 were read and allowed.

A claim from Mrs. Hannah Powers for $500 for alleged damages to her property said to have been caused by the city's negligence was referred to the street committee.

A proposition that the council cooperate with the D. & R. G. railroad in the beautifying of the depot grounds was referred to the public grounds and buildings committee.

A proposition to join with General Palmer and buy a steam roller was introduced by Alderman Hopping. The street committee was instructed to confer with General Palmer and report back in more detail.

Mayor Robinson appointed Fred Armbruster a fireman, to replace Fireman Mayhew, resigned. The appointment was ratified.

Upon motion of Alderman Capell, the council ordered a warrant for $100 drawn against the continkent fund in favor of the Colorado Midland band in payment for band concerts during the summer.

Mayor Robinson requested the council to co-operate with him in making the convention of the League of Municipalities, to be held in this city a great success.

A plat of the Ord and Swope addition was introduced and referred to the street committee, city engineer and the city attorney.

The Cassonia plat, which was introduced some time ago, was called up and was referred back to the street committee, city engineer and city attorney for a report.

PEST HOUSE

ONE WILL DO FOR BOTH CITY AND COUNTY.

The Council Decides to Let Commissioners Take Care of City Patients in New Hospital.

The pest house, or isolation hospital question, has been settled at last and the city and county have come to an agreement.

At last night's council meeting Dr. F. O. Hanford, the city health commissioner, submitted a proposition from the county commissioners which met with much favor. This agreement was secured after a number of conferences between the county commissioners and Dr. Hanford and city officials. The agreement reached is very satisfactory to the city and is as follows:

The city will deed 10 acres of its 40-acre pest house lot to the county; the county will construct the pest house at its own expense; the county will assume charge of all cases, both city and county cases, and will pro rate the expense on the basis of the cost of maintenance of the hospital; the county agrees to purchase the pest wagon, cots, bedding, clothing, dishes, etc., now owned by the city. The health commission of Colorado Springs is to supervise the care of the city's patients.

This is practically the basis on which the city cared for the county cases last year and is considered very fair. The county wants a five-year contract with the city on this basis, and while there was some slight hesitation about such a long period, the health commission and finance committee were given power to act in the matter, and the mayor and city clerk were instructed to sign the contract which may be drawn up.

MARY McGOWAN GOT ONLY WHAT WAS OFFERED

It appears that the suit of Mary McGowan against Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Arthur did not result in a victory for the plaintiff, as has been stated. The case was settled in the county court last week, when Mr. and Mrs. Arthur paid their former employe $80, the amount they offered her as her wages before the suit was brought. The litigation of about four months availed the servant girl nothing and the settlement was a vindication for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur.

Mary McGowan was employed by the Arthurs in New York and after she worked in the household of the family for some time she said she did not like Colorado Springs and wanted to return to New York. She demanded that Mr. and Mrs. Arthur pay her not only her wages, but all her expenses for the trip to New York, including Pullman car expenses, etc. She was offered $80 but refused to accept the money and brought suit. Last week she decided to accept the amount offered and the case was settled.

MANY MOTIONS ARGUED IN DISTRICT COURT

An unusually large number of motions were argued yesterday in the civil division of the district court. Among the important cases were the following:

A. S. Munson vs. D. T. Mason, et al., defendant's motion for a new trial and prayer for an appeal to the court of appeals were both denied.

L. A. Crowell vs. the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad company, defendant's demurrer overruled.

John W. Sleeper vs. J. Reid Crowell, defendant's motion to strike out certain portions of the plaintiff's complaint denied. The defendant was given 24 hours in which to file an answer.

Michael Dulkin vs. Brennan, plaintiff's motion to set aside judgment granted.

John D. Morgan vs. J. W. Proudfit, et al., defendant's motion to strike out portions of the complaint argued and taken under advisement.

MORLEY FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TOMORROW

The funeral of Mr. Frederick H. Morley, who died early Sunday morning in Philadelphia, will be held tomorrow afternoon. Services will be at 2:30 o'clock at the family residence, No. 1321 Wood avenue.

All friends of the family are invited to attend the services. Interment, which will be in the Evergreen cemetery, will be private. Rev. Dr. James B. Gregg, pastor of the First Congregational church, will be in charge of the services.

The remains will reach this city tomorrow morning. Mr. Morley's widow, mother and son, Frederick H. Morley, will also reach Colorado Springs tomorrow from Philadelphia.

WATER BONDS

BIDS OPENED FOR PURCHASE OF THE ISSUE.

Four Bidders Seek the Seven Lakes Paper. Action Is Deferred.

At the city council meeting last night bids for the $15,000 Seven Lakes water bond issue were opened but no action was taken on them. The bids were referred to the finance committee to report back on Thursday night, when a special meeting will be held for the purpose of considering them. There are some deeds still be secured from the owners of the ground bought and the council will not sell the bonds until the deeds are furnished.

There were four bidders, two from Chicago, one from Toledo and one from Denver. Spitzer & Co. of Toledo have the high bid, being nearly $400 ahead of the next high bidder, N. W. Harris & Co. of Chicago. Rollins & Sons, the Denver buyers who have taken several Colorado Springs bond issues, are the lowest bidders, being $300 lower than S. A. Keen of Chicago and nearly $1,000 lower than Spitzer & Co. The bids are as follows:

Spitzer & Co., Toledo	$70,417.60
N. W. Harris & Co., Chicago	70,050.00
S. A. Keen, Chicago	69,750.00
E. H. Rollins & Sons, Denver	69,434.70

Spitzer & Co., the highest bidders, offer a premium of $1,417. Harris & Co. offer a premium of $1,050. Rollins & Sons offer a premium of $630 per bond, which totals up to $434.70 for the whole issue and makes them low bidders. Action on the bids will be taken Thursday night.

JERRY JOHNSON COMPANY

Grants a Lease to George Wrockloff on Ironclad Hill Property—Other Lessees of This Company and Their Work.

Cripple Creek, Nov. 4.—The Jerry Johnson company has granted a lease on blocks 4 and 5 of the Arizona, on the Little Pedro claim on the northeast slope of Ironclad hill. The lease is for a period of 18 months and is to George Wrockloff, who gained quite a reputation as a lucky leaser by opening up good ore in the Burns claim of the Acacia company on Bull hill. Since selling out his interests in that lease Mr. Wrockloff has been away from the district, and has returned to take up mining on Ironclad hill. It is expected [illegible] Mr. Wrockloff is confident [illegible] the Jerry Johnson [illegible]. The shaft in which he will work [illegible] known as the [illegible] workings, which are down to a depth of 150 feet. To these lessee agrees to do 200 feet of sinking and [illegible] will be accomplished.

The Anton B. company, operating a lease on the Arapahoe of the Jerry Johnson company, is extending its 100-foot level. Ore was first opened at a depth of 75 feet, where the shoot was found to be from two to three feet in width, carrying an average of $30 values. At each 25 feet of depth below this point a crosscut was extended for 10 feet to test the ore, and an improvement was noted each time. The ore was next opened up at the 80-foot depth, showed about 3 feet in width and an average assay across the pay vein showed values of $60 in gold to the ton. Lessees Jackson and associates working on another block of the Jerry Johnson, have a shaft at a depth of about 200 feet in their shaft, and expect [illegible] the vein which is the object of the development work, on its dip to the west through the shaft. The lessees expected to encounter the vein and ore body before reaching the 250-foot point, but as it has evidently straightened up to a considerable extent, the shaft will be put down to the 350-foot depth before a lateral is started.

The Dante and Cripple Creek Leasing company has encountered a narrow streak of pay ore at a depth of 120 feet in its block on the Mound-Helena of the Prince Consolidated on Bull hill. The streak is now giving assays as high as 10 ounces to the ton. Prospecting is being followed in both directions from the shaft and a drift is being run along [illegible] the company expects to [illegible] the extension of the Leadville No. 1 vein and of Vindicator [illegible]. The new machinery ordered for the Star Gold Mining company, consisting of a 50-horse power boiler, a five-drill compressor and three machine drills, has arrived at the Home Fraction on the east slope of Beacon hill, and the company expects to have the apparatus in commission within two weeks. The shaft on this property has been sunk to a depth of 250 feet, with 140 feet of lateral work accomplished on the 200-foot level.

[illegible] tem organized, and in successful operation. In fact the city is assuming all conditions pertaining to metropolitan cities of any class.

"The reign of terror which was prevalent when I first arrived in the summer of 1900, is a thing of the past, the law of the survival of the fittest operates here as elsewhere, and the rights of person and property are carefully respected. Commodious school buildings are constructed in different parts of the city which are well attended, and presided over by a competent corps of teachers. Church attendance is now a feature of Nome, being large and attractive and are well attended by appreciative congregations. About 4,000 people will winter here, and much winter work will be done in the way of getting out dump. My mission here is performed and I shall soon return to the outside. It has not been a failure, nor has it been crowned with entire success, but closes a chapter in life that will always furnish rich food for much serious reflection."

NELLIE V. ORE SHOWS HIGH VALUES

The Rich Stuff Is Being Sacked, and Other Grades Are Being Obtained Running From $18 to $20 and From $80 to $120.

Mr. J. G. Palmer, a director of the Nellie V. Gold Mining company, returned yesterday from camp and reports that the showing of ore on the property is excellent. In the 250-foot level Manager Lowther is now upraising on the contact between the granite and porphyry where, evidently, two veins come together. They are well mineralized, and in the past few days 29 sacks of high grade ore have been sacked for shipment. There is about two inches of the shoot which runs $150 in gold to the ton, and several inches more which will average between $80 and $120 in gold to the ton, while the granite for a couple of feet is mineralized to the extent of some $18 or $20 in gold to the ton. The rich ore is exceptionally fine looking, being the best, according to Manager Lowther, he has obtained from the mine since he has been connected with it, which is some time now.

Secretary O. C. Black of the company, received a letter yesterday stating the condition of the mine, and that the ore had undergone an improvement since Mr. Palmer's visit. The ore appears to be of good character, and it is expected to prove permanent. For the present operations are being confined to upraising at this point.

The new management expresses itself in favor of giving the stockholders every opportunity to ascertain the exact status of the mine, and any of them can readily obtain permission to visit the workings.

S. BEN SMITH ON NEW COPPER CAMP

He Has Visited the Ojo Copper District of This State, and Reports That There Is an Excellent Showing There.

Mr. S. Ben Smith, a well-known mining man of this city, returned yesterday from a week's stay in the Ojo copper district in Huerfano county, of this state. Mr. Smith went there in behalf of eastern investors who were desirous of knowing the exact outlook for the district, and he reports that there is one of the most favorable copper showings which he has seen in the state.

"The district was prospected for silver some years ago," Mr. Smith stated, "but in the last few months much surface prospecting has been done for copper with very encouraging results. The country is streaked with large porphyry dikes, and several good copper veins have been opened along these. The ore is of a black and red oxide of copper, and there is also metallic copper. I found by assays which I had made that the average value was about 12 per cent. in copper, and $5 in silver to the ton. Picked specimens of the copper go as high as 70 per cent.

"The district has had almost no development. There is one corporation, the Ojo Copper company, developing the ground by a tunnel which is to be in 600 feet by next April, but all the rest is surface work. There is a good chance for the district to become a most important copper camp. It is situated about 11 miles from La Veta with a good wagon road all the way. The climate will readily permit winter work and there is an abundance of water and timber. I have recommended to those in whose behalf I made the examination to develop the ground, and probably several companies will be organized."

Mr. Smith brought back several specimens of the copper ore which are very convincing. It is found in a red sandstone and can be easily mined.

ALL ELKTON STOCKHOLDERS CAN GET IN ON THE PROPOSED DEAL

President Bernard Lives Up to His Promise Not to Sell the Mine Unless All Stockholders Benefit Alike.

The option which has been granted on a control of Elkton stock aroused much interest in mining circles yesterday, but there was some apprehension expressed on the part of the smaller holders in the company lest the deal should be another of those in which the small stockholders have been frozen out.

A representative of the Gazette approached President Bernard of the Elkton company, and his answer was most emphatic.

"I have always promised Elkton stockholders," he said, "that in case of any deal each and every one should share alike, and I do not intend to go back on my word now. The contract which Mr. De La Vergne has made with those who are negotiating for the mine expressly requires that if they buy any of the stock they shall buy all of it that is offered."

"Then you mean that any stockholder will be given the privilege of selling his stock at $2.75 if he so desires?" Mr. Bernard was asked.

"Yes," he replied, "that is it. Of course some of the stockholders may not wish to sell at that price, but if they do they will have as much right to as those who have given an option to Mr. De La Vergne. If this contract had not been made, the large holders would never have consented to option their stock."

"Do you think the deal will go through?" he was asked.

"There is a bare possibility that it will," he said, "but it is by no means assured. When the option was given it seemed that there was a possibility of selling at this price, and we were willing to give the option. I wish you would make it emphatic, though," he said, "that the small holder who has not come into the deal will have just as fair a chance to sell at $2.75 a share as any one, providing he wants to."

All the stockholders in the Elkton company who have not given options on their stock at $2.75 a share can, by calling at Mr. De La Vergne's office on the third floor of the First National Bank building, obtain blanks for granting the option on their holdings on the same basis that the large stockholders have done.

LLOYD N. ADAMSON BACK FROM NOME

He Gives an Interesting Account of His Experiences and Observations—He Believes There Are Excellent Prospects There.

Mr. Lloyd N. Adamson returned Sunday from a 16-months' visit to the Cape Nome country of Alaska, and has a great deal of interest to say of this camp about which so much has been written. Although many have returned disappointed from the placers, Mr. Adamson thinks the country of great promise, and worthy of all consideration from investors. He said:

"The phenomenally cold winter which set in full by November 15th, and which did not break up until about June 15th, greatly retarded mining operations in this district. In fact many excellent and productive properties were tied up effectively by frost until as late as the first of August.

"The natives, early in the fall, predicted that we would have not only a very severe winter, but also destructive storms, even going so far as to prophesy the destruction of Front street in the city of Nome. This was partly fulfilled as we had terrible storms and the surf ran so high as to destroy much of Front street, and a vast amount of valuable property. These severe winters, the natives say, occur every 15 years, and the evidence is not [illegible] to the destructiveness of the [illegible], but this, which occurred 15 years ago. I saw the ruins in the near vicinity of Nome, of a town composed of Nomeyas 'Igloos,' in which the natives, say 700 Esquimaux lost their lives. There were about 5,000 people wintered in the city and the immediate vicinity, perhaps 500 at Council City and 100 at Teller. There was fortunately plenty of provisions, and we ran short of nothing except coal, coal oil and eggs. Coal sold for $150 per ton, oil at $20 per case, and eggs at $25 per case. These prices prevailed for 50 to 60 days before the first arrival of boats, when they rapidly receded to normal values, say $50 to $75 for coal and $5 and $12 per case for oil and eggs, respectively. The monotony of the long winter nights, as we had but little daylight, was broken by the general prevalence of social functions, which took some form or other nearly every evening. The whole population seemed to be organized into societies, clubs, etc., fraternal, congenial and otherwise, and I really believe that the people enjoyed themselves as well as they could have done under normal conditions on the outside. Many there were who were making Nome their permanent homes, others staid in to protect their properties, while not a few remained for the notoriety of passing a winter in the Arctic. I was connected officially with the U. S. district court, and pleasantly located in the Golden Gate hotel, so did not suffer much inconvenience, though the thermometer indicated most of the time 35 to 50 degrees below zero.

"The output of the district will be minimized this year on account of the short season but the product of gold will much exceed the same relative time of the season of 1900. Our output for the year 1900 (I mean the output of the Nome district), according to mint report from Seattle, was $5,400,000; it will closely approximate $4,000,000 this year, with a 45 to 60 day season, as against 90 days to four months last year. Many permanent improvements are being made in the city, miles of streets have been planked, a large electric light plant fully installed, water works completed, telephone sys-

MINING NOTES AROUND TOWN

At a meeting of the members of the mining stock exchange yesterday Messrs. Hayes, Eustis and Aldrich were elected to draw up appropriate resolutions expressing the grief felt by the members in the loss of Mr. Morley. The resolutions drawn up and adopted by unanimous consent are as follows:

"It is with the deepest regret that we learn of the death of Frederick H. Morley. He was one of the organizers of this exchange, and from that time one of our associate members. He served almost continuously as a member of our most important committees, and freely gave his time and support to the interests of this organization.

"Mr. Morley's integrity and high business standing, his great popularity and ability were a source of strength to the exchange, and through his death we have suffered a deep loss, not only as an organization but personal friends and citizens.

"We wish to offer our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family in their great affliction, which we so deeply share.

J. A. Hayes,
J. B. Eustis,
Sherwood Aldrich,
Committee."

VINDICATOR TO DOUBLE ITS QUARTERLY DIVIDEND.

It is now reported on good authority that the Vindicator Gold Mining company is going to double its regular quarterly dividend. During the past month the company paid its regular dividend of three cents a share and an extra dividend of two cents a share, making the total dividend five cents a share and the total disbursement was $55,000, making the total amount of dividends paid $664,000. The authority now states that the company will double its regular rate making the dividend 10 cents a share and a disbursement of $110,000. The workings on the company's own account and that by the lessees are producing better ore and more ore than at any time in the history of the mine and this is given as the prime reason for the intention of increasing the present rate of dividend.

ST. PATRICK SHAFT NOW DOWN 530 FEET.

The St. Patrick company, which is a Scotch company, is now doing some fine work in the sinking of the shaft on its property near Victor. The shaft now has reached the depth of about 630 feet and it is the intention of the company to put the shaft down now to the depth of 800 feet. And it will have to go another additional depth of 170 feet. The management of the operations are in charge of Mr. William Weston, a well-known mining engineer of this city.

The drift at the 500-foot level has been driven 250 feet while the drift at the 500-foot level is now in 100 feet forward to the north. At the depth of 600 feet a crosscut will be driven to cut the vein.

RITTENHOUSE RETURNED FROM SAN JUAN DISTRICT.

Yesterday Mr. E. E. Rittenhouse of the Dorsey Investment company returned from the San Juan mining district where he has been for a short while in the interest of a mining enterprise of a private nature. Mr. Rittenhouse states that the outlook of the south west is very promising and that a good deal of interest is being taken in that field by our local mining men. The whole district has a very healthy aspect and there is a good field for investments in several properties.

MONTHLY MEETING OF MARY M'KINNEY DIRECTORS.

The regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Mary McKinney was held yesterday at noon in the offices of the company in the Postoffice block in this city. President F. F. Castello in effect stated when the meeting was over that the ore showing in the workings of the mine was very good. In the fifth level the drift has been sent 2,500 feet on the vein and the breast at either end is still in ore. As yet no ore has been stoped from this level but an upraise has been sent to the fourth level, and the ore is good all the way from the fourth to the fifth and if anything better in the lower level. The water problem that some while ago was a serious one in this mine and other mines in the vicinity, has now been practically solved. The water in the fifth level has been reduced to 300 gallons a minute, and that amount is easily handled by the triplex pump. The big 1,000-gallon pump is to be placed in the fifth level in a very short time.

LOCAL MINING MEN INTERESTED IN NEVADA.

Mr. J. K. Miller returned from the Wedekind mining district of Nevada, where he has been in the interest of a local syndicate.

He speaks in the highest praise of the district. Mr. Miller and Mr. Price have succeeded in obtaining a lease and bond on a hundred acres of very promising ground. The bond is for $70,000. Mr. Price will remain there for a short time for the purpose of superintending the sinking of a shaft in the Sage Hen, one of the claims of the property.

Mr. Miller has obtained an option on another property near Reno, and this ground also has some very promising prospects. He expresses it as his opinion that that old district newly revived is a second Leadville.

FANNY RAWLINGS TO PAY A DIVIDEND.

The South Winnie Leasing company is operating a part of the Fanny Rawlings' ground is continuing its work where its developments have uncovered [illegible] in the level above. From the good showings in the property and the daily shipments it is thought that it will not be more than a month before the company will pay a dividend.

THE COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

Colorado Springs, Nov. 4.—The market today saw some falling off in the amount of trading, but the cash value of the day's business amounted up very well, and there were some very good advances scored in the different departments. As yet there appears to be no special interest taken in the stocks which represent new strikes, but there is a good undercurrent of strength and the demand is slightly greater than the supply in the majority of instances. It was apparent yesterday that many traders, especially in those stocks which have advanced rapidly, were being held off for anticipated reaction. The brokers, however, are by no means unanimous that the market will in any way weaken. In the mines list Consolidated was little sought, and the selling orders brought the price as low as 8¾ at the close, although encouraging news still comes from the strike. Elkton opened very strong at $1.63½ on the strength of the fact that the stock has been quoted at $1.65, but it fell off to $1.61½ at the close. There seems to be some skepticism as to the consummation of the deal on change. El Paso opened at 80, but fell off to 79½ at the close, and Gold Dollar closed lower at 17¾. Gould was one of the active stocks which fared better, advancing to 19½, under a good demand and Vindicator was still in demand, advancing to $1.25½. Trading was a little better in the preferred list, but there were few features. Nellie V. advanced to 4½ under a strong demand, but little stock was brought out.

H. H. BARBEE'S MARKET LETTER

Colorado Springs, Nov. 2, 1901.

When we make the simple statement this week that the output of Cripple Creek for the month of October amounted to 54,510 tons of ore, worth $2,253,340 it may not seem as if the fact were so remarkable; but nevertheless, this is one of the biggest pieces of news which has ever gone out from the gold camp since the precious metal was first mined. Two and one-quarter million dollars in a month is a record which may at times have been equalled or surpassed, but never by a camp so new as Cripple Creek. The development of the marvellous resources of this camp is just beginning, and there is every prospect that this production will be more than maintained for many years to come. While a single camp may have at times surpassed Cripple Creek's present record, no camp in the world has ever maintained it for any length of time.

We are asked at times by the more cautious of those who receive this letter, if there is really any outlook for a substantial improvement in the local mining stock market; and if the local investors believe in the future of Cripple Creek. We can reply to each of these questions with the most emphatic yes.

To answer the last one first, the evidence of the faith which the local business men have in the future of Cripple Creek is found at every hand. We have spoken before of the railroad which they have built between this city and the district, costing between two and three million dollars, and which never could have been built unless there was abundant promise that Cripple Creek would be shipping ore for years to come.

Then in the past year two large reduction plants have been built, one at Florence and the other at Colorado City, which are entirely dependent on Cripple Creek ores; Portland company is building an immense reduction plant another will be started in a few weeks at Colorado City, and an association of local mine owners has just decided to build near this city the largest reduction plant in the state.

In addition, Mr. Stratton has just erected a five-story building for the mining stock exchange, and so confident are the officers of the exchange in the future of Cripple Creek that they have contracted to pay a large rental for the use of the building. Other large office buildings are being erected, and brokerage firms are constantly moving into larger and more expensive accommodations.

The men who have built the railroad and the mills, and who are every day investing thousands which are absolutely dependent upon the future of Cripple Creek, are above everything else business men. They would not invest their money in this way unless they were perfectly satisfied that the Cripple Creek of the future is going to be bigger than the Cripple Creek of the past.

As for the mining stock market, so closely is it associated with the prosperity of Cripple Creek, its future prosperity is assured by the facts just stated of the camp. The officials are aggressive and business-like; every legitimate method is being taken to draw attention to the greatness of Cripple Creek and to the advisability of investing in Cripple Creek stocks, that it is a moral certainty that the market will improve. With that statement, the first question is answered.

EASTERN MARKETS

By Associated Press.

New York, Nov. 4.—Speculators were disappointed of their hopes of a rise in prices in today's stock market, of which they fancied that the active buying movement at the closing of Saturday's market after the appearance of an unsatisfactory bank statement was a precursor. Reports continued reassuring today of the favorable progress of the negotiations over the Northern Pacific-Great Northern railway matter but there is room for the question how far the forthcoming announcement of the result has already been discounted. The benefit of such a development as removing a threatened cause of damage to security values is self-evident, but the financial project which these negotiations seek to adjust on a permanent basis has lost its magical power of appeal to the speculative imagination. The apparent decision on Saturday to adhere to an optimistic view of the money outlook was also modified today. The engagement of $1,500,000 in gold for shipment by tomorrow's steamer to Europe and the renewed strength in the foreign exchange market in spite of sales against this shipment were clear notice of a considerable requirement still unsatisfied. The light offerings of government bonds for redemption, compared with the large blocks of last Friday came as another disappointment and dashed the hopes of considerable relief to the money market from that source. Today's redemptions at the sub-treasury amounted in par value to only $169,490. The deposit at the sub-treasury of $200,000 for transfer to Chicago was another unfavorable item in the outlook. Last week's currency movement gave hope that the western demand had been satisfied and the current from that direction turned again toward New York, leaving only the south to be reckoned with for the future. Today's transfer had a disturbing effect on this view, although it is not necessarily evidence of a renewal of any considerable demand from the west. Developments in the foreign market continued to be studied with interest as indicating the continuance of the gold movement. The French naval demonstration against Turkey seemed to have an unsettling effect on stock markets, but the renewed decline in sterling at Paris was more important from the New York standpoint. The motives of the cutting home of French capital on the present scale are not altogether clear. Industrial losses, speculative losses in copper and several large pending loans including a Russian loan and a Chinese loan are supposed to have their part in the movement. Individual price movements in today's bushels against 7,268,000 bushels last week and 8,398,000 bushels a year ago. Breadstuffs on passage had increased 3,632,000 bushels, and the visible supply had increased 558,000 bushels.

Oats were strong, following corn. Trade was active at times and on rather a liberal scale. There was fairly good outside demand and most of the buying was done by commission houses. December opened ¼@⅜c higher and sold up to 37⅝c, closing firm ⅜@½c up at 37⅜c. Receipts 209 cars.

Provisions were dull and heavy, and sagged under the pressure of liberal offerings of a poorly supported market. Hogs were higher all around at the opening, influenced by better prices for hogs, but January pork closed 20@22½c depressed at $14.77½@14.80, January lard 10c down at $8.50 and January ribs 7½c lower at $7.62½@7.65.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 160 cars; corn, 215; oats, 260; hogs, 31,000 head.

The London Market.

By Associated Press.

New York, Nov. 4.—Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram: An intense fog was a factor that depressed the stock market today. Americans were firm, but there was little interest taken in them till New York sent over some very heavy options in Union Pacific, Reading, Southern Pacific and Southern Railway, all calls, due at the end of the year, but mainly at the end of January. There also was some excellent buying of Reading outright, but London remained listless. Your correspondent observes that it is reported that New York seems to be puzzled at the persistency of London sales. The explanation as understood here, is that investment trust companies are gradually re-selling their American holdings, at a high level.

The Metal Market.

By Associated Press.

New York, Nov. 4.—As is usual before a holiday, trading was slow in the metal market today and mostly of an even-ing up character. Locally tin was unsettled and easy at $24.50@25.00 for spot while values in London were also a shade lower, closing at £112, 12s, 6d for spot, and £106, 15s for futures. At New York the copper market was unchanged and quiet at $16.85@17 for lake, and 16⅝@16⅞ for casting and electrolytic. Lead dull, unchanged here at $4.37½ but 1s, 3d better in London, at £11, 10s. Spelter was dull at home and abroad, closing at $4.37½ and £16, 15s respectively. Domestic iron markets were quiet. Pig iron warrants $9.50@10.50; No. 1 foundry, northern, $15@16; No. 2 foundry, southern, $14@15; No. 1 foundry, southern, $14.50@15.50; No. 1 foundry, southern, soft, $14.50@16.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Bull activity in the corn pit aided by a strong cable list helped all grains today. December corn closing ⅝c higher, December wheat ½@⅝c advanced, and December oats ¼@⅜c up. Provisions closed a dull day 7½c to 20@22½c depressed.

Corn ruled strong and higher throughout the session, December opening ⅛ to ⅜c higher at 58⅞c to 59⅛c, on well improved Liverpool cables. There was a general feeling at the close Saturday that today would bring another advance and when the cables showed a foreign sympathy the early light trade picked up. Commission houses had good buying orders and with but light offerings here and higher prices in the west December advanced to 59¾c. Longs were almost sellers for profits and a number of shorts were hurt in the upturn. Many traders are arguing that the real effect of the summer destruction of the crop is just beginning to be felt. December eased late in the day on profit-taking and closed firm ⅝c higher at 58⅝c. Receipts were 310 cars.

Strong Liverpool cables, based on the advance here and weekly bearish statistics were contending influences in the wheat pit. December opened ⅛c to ⅜@½c higher, at 70⅝c to 70¾@71c, largely on the foreign bulge. There was a slight inclination to respond to the numerous bearish influences of increased receipts, world's shipments and amount on passage, and December did ease off to 70⅝@70¾c, but when the rise in corn began wheat immediately followed after and sold up to 71⅜c. Business was quiet, the cash demand slow and elevator interests prominent sellers. Despite these depressing factors the general temper of the crowd brought a firm close for December, ½@⅝c higher, at 71¼@71⅜c. Local receipts were 142 cars, 11 of contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 1,060 cars, making a total for the three points of 1,202 against 1,123 last week, and 849 a year ago. Primary receipts were 1,410,000 bushels compared with 1,119,000 bushels last year. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour were 540,000 bushels. World's shipments for the week were 10,956,000

ACT QUICKLY

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Colorado Springs.

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in times of danger. Backache is kidney danger. Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly. Cure all distressing, dangerous kidney ills. Plenty of evidence to prove this. Mr. J. J. McCarty of 13 South Corona street, foreman of the Gazette, says: "For five or six years I was annoyed with backache accompanied by slight urinary trouble. I took more than one medicine said to be a sure cure for kidney complaint, and like a great many others in Colorado Springs I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Jones & Wellington's drug store, 105 N. Tejon street, expecting the results from their treatment to be as unsatisfactory as those from other preparations I had taken in the past. The benefit received justifies me in saying that anyone suffering from kidney complaint or backache will find in this preparation something which acts differently and more effectively than anything heretofore tried."

For sale by all dealers; price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

CAUSE OF FALLING HAIR.

Dandruff, Which Is a Germ Disease Kill the Germ.

Falling hair is caused by dandruff, which is a germ disease. The germ in burrowing in to the root of the hair, where it destroys the vitality of the hair, causing the hair to fall out, digs up the cuticle in little scales, called dandruff or scurf. You can't stop the falling hair without curing the dandruff, and you can't cure the dandruff without killing the dandruff germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ. Herpicide is also a delightful hair dressing.

Mr. and Mrs. Newly-Wed
Rented a room and a folding bed;
The bed closed up, caught both by the head;
Now Mr. and Mrs. are newly-dead.

When Miss and Mr. Soon-to-Wed
Heard the tale of the folding bed,
They looked in each other's face and said,
"We'll never rent—we'll buy instead."

SPILLANE-KEARNS REALTY CO.
We must be all right, for the houses we are building seem to please everyone's taste that visits them.
The idea of an upstairs parlor, the "al fresco" balcony on the second floor, the big stone fireplaces, the Chinese, bizarre touch in the design, the buffet kitchen, the ivory bath rooms, all these new ideas are taking and we have more clever things up our sleeves. Come out and see what we have. Wood ave. and Washington st.
And we have lots in all parts of the town on which we will build you houses to suit from your own plans, and we will make you plans to suit. We don't ask one cent until we finish the house; then we will arrange for mortgage or cash. Our prices will be just as low as it is possible to make them and have a 10 per cent. business profit. We have 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9-room houses now all finished in the north and west ends. Call at Wood ave. and Washington st. and see our Mr. Spillane, or send postal, box 1074, and arrange appointment and we will send carriage.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Forecast for Colorado: Generally fair Tuesday and Wednesday. Variable winds.

[illegible]

Satisfied people wear [illegible]

Dust-proof rooms for storage. [illegible] Waddell & Lowe, 112 Pikes Peak.

"JOAN OF ARC." The weekly practice for this cantata will be held this evening at the Y. M. C. A. rooms. A full attendance is especially requested for this rehearsal.

MEETING POSTPONED.—[illegible] There will be no meeting Tuesday afternoon on account of the election. Further notice will be given of the next meeting.

FIVE MINUTES

Or less is what it will take for you to vote today. If you vote early. If you don't vote you will lose your registration. Take five minutes and vote today and save your registration.

PEYSER-WEINBERG.—Miss Hattie Weinberg and Mr. W. J. Peyser will be married on November 6 at 6:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 2020 Welton street, Denver, Colo.

CHURCH DINNER.—The ladies of Emmanuel Presbyterian church will serve a dinner at the church this noon and evening at the church at the corner of Spruce and Maple streets.

I. O. O. F.—Colorado Springs Lodge No. 149, I. O. O. F., will hold a special meeting tomorrow, Wednesday evening, at 7:30 p. m. in Odd Fellows hall. Only members of No. 149 are expected to be present.

G. A. R.—There will be a regular meeting of Post 22, G. A. R., at their hall tonight at 7:30 p. m. A full attendance is requested as officers for the ensuing year will be nominated. Visiting comrades cordially invited. D. C. Work, Post Commander.

REMEMBER THE REAPPORTIONMENT BILL.

El Paso county will have no senators and no representatives in the next legislature except by the grace of the Cripple Creek Democrats.

VOTE EARLY AND VOTE STRAIGHT.

QUARTERLY RECEPTION.—Instead of the regular monthly meeting of the W. F. M. S. of the First M. E. church, the ladies will hold a quarterly reception this evening at 8 o'clock in the church. The conference secretary, Mrs. Wilson, will be present.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Marriage licenses were issued yesterday by the county clerk to Alphonse Lewis and Anna Belle Reed, and C. A. Zimmerman and Frances Gertrude Zimmons of Colorado Springs, and Jesse E. Ogle of Colorado City and Lena C. Ahlands of Ellicott, Colo.

WARRANTY DEEDS.—Among the warranty deeds recorded yesterday were the following: Tyler Building company to Francis Phillips, $4,500, part of lots [illegible] addition. Oliver H. Dutcher to B. L. Trimble, $1,550, part of lots 1, 2, 3 and 4, block 131, Colorado City.

LECTURES IN CHILD STUDY.—The lecture course in child study will begin on Wednesday at the Ferris school promptly at 3 o'clock. The course will undertake to treat the education of the child from the standpoint of the brain development and will give the latest scientific views on the treatment of children, always giving the reasons in terms of the nervous system. Those interested in this course may obtain further information from Mrs. P. D. Stewart or Professor Lancaster.

STATE ELECTION.

There is a state election next fall and you will want to vote. If you don't vote today you will have to register again. You will find it less trouble to vote today than to register again.

Jumped on a Ten Penny Nail.

The little daughter of Mr. J. N. Powell jumped on an inverted rake made of ten penny nails, and thrust one nail entirely through her foot and a second one half way through. Chamberlain's Pain Balm was promptly applied and five minutes later the pain had disappeared and no more suffering was experienced. In three days the child was wearing her shoe as usual and with absolutely no discomfort. Mr. Powell is a well-known merchant of Forkland, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and heals such injuries without maturation and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. For sale by all druggists.

THE ALTA VISTA will make a reduced rate on contracts for the winter.

CHAIN CHAT

Have you seen 'em?

The new stiffened gold chains—two plates of solid gold on the outside of a composition metal.

Better than solid gold because more substantial, all the richness of design, all the carefulness of finish given the most expensive chains.

Whatever one's occupation, or social rank—the most satisfactory to wear, the most profitable to buy.

See 'em.

Marvelli Macaroni

Is prepared from the finest flour that can be obtained from specially grown wheat. The methods of producing it are such that practically all of the strength-giving properties of the rich glutinous grain are preserved, and every process of its manufacture is carried on with absolute cleanliness. Finally, it is put into hermetically sealed packages that keep it fresh and free from contamination.

The result is a food that contains the most nutritious elements and that is pure and wholesome. The gluten of the wheat being all preserved, gives to MARVELLI MACARONI the rich yellow color that inferior products can have only by artificial coloring. You know the difference when you cook them.

We Have Secured it Again

So many of my customers were disappointed in not getting their Cash Register Tickets in in time to guess on the Telegraph Money Jar that I have made arrangements to have it in my store again on Thursday, November 7th.

This will positively be your last chance to guess with my tickets as the money jar will be opened Saturday, Nov. 9, so bring in all your checks and secure as many more as you can, for every 50c worth entitles you to one guess on Thursday, November 7.

New Walking Skirts

The Walking Skirt is the most necessary and practical garment in a woman's wardrobe. There are so many places it can be properly worn—in fact, it is seldom out of place. We are showing a rare exhibition of exclusive styles, 100 of which arrived last week. The latest adopted cloths are represented in popular colors, the finest tailoring is most evident in all styles, and the low prices lend a charm to the whole.

PRICES FROM $3.50 UP TO ... $15.00

New Walking Suits

The charm of beauty and economy lies in every Suit in this stock. Very recently some 50 new ones have been added—the best the season has produced, with the popular Norfolk jacket and [illegible] stitched skirts. Desirable colors in good, durable cloths, and tailoring is perfection. Early purchasing will prove profitable.—FROM ... $13.50 up

New 42 and 54 inch Coats

Correct models, nicely finished and of wear-resisting cloths. The assortment embraces many new and novel designs in oxford, brown and tan. The new circular flounce is very much in evidence. See them if you anticipate buying. The reasonable prices are most gratifying.

New Furs

By favorable purchases here and there, at home and foreign markets. We have gathered an astonishing quantity of exclusive kinds. All are furs of quality, too, not nice-looking cheap stuff that gives but temporary satisfaction, but furs that bear the stamp of reliability and are backed by our guarantee. The real seal garments deserve particular mention.

Oriental Rugs

The display reveals the choicest colorings and workmanship procurable from the Orient, India, Persia, Bacora, Hilam and numerous others shown in all sizes. The handsome designs will stay your steps—the price modesty will surely appeal to you, for prices so small have never before in this store represented values so great.

Window Shades

So confident are we of our low prices that all we ask is to submit an estimate. Being in close contact with the largest shade cloth houses, we are able to quote lower prices than rival concerns.

Upholstery Department

This department, one of the most successful in the house, is presided over by one of the most competent men known to the art. His ability has been proven by his connection with a number of the biggest concerns in the largest cities of the world. London, Berlin and New York have witnessed the clever conception wrought by his deft fingers. He received his education in the old country and spent many years in travel, thus learning the various styles of the leading fashionable centers of the Old and New World.

To back up his skill we carry in stock the choicest upholstery fabrics, both imported and domestic. The new Art Nouveau has full representation. See them.

Gents' Wear

A strictly fresh and selected stock of gents' necessaries may be found at our furnishing store at all times. Tasty neckwear, choice shirts and popular grades of underwear. The generous prices add a charm to the display.

Guaranteed Black Taffetas

The demand for black taffetas is greater this season than ever. Factories are rushed and consequently are not able to put out the goods. We expected this and placed our orders away last spring when they were idle, thus getting a line that is above the average.

The silks we guarantee run in the following prices:

Guaranteed black taffeta at $1.50 yd.
Guaranteed black taffeta at [illegible]
Guaranteed black taffeta at 1.25 yd.
Guaranteed black taffeta at 1.50 yd.
Guaranteed Swiss taffetas at $1.50, $1.75, $2.00, $2.25 yd.
Guaranteed Peau de Soie, 22 and 24 inches wide, at $1.50, $1.75, $2.00, [illegible]

Shapely Corsets

The Celebrated La Grecque and Sapphire Brand.

The LA GRECQUE corsets are designed to bring out the best points of the figure they represent. Select according to what your figure naturally is and it will prove a preventative against relaxed muscles and undeveloped lines. For a chic or slender figure the beautiful Lattice Ribbon is made; for the stout figure the belt style is proper. Health, its preservation and restoration, is the first principle of the La Grecque. They support hygienically from the back, giving the figure the erect and natural pose so essential to a graceful carriage.

THE SAPPHIRE corsets are strictly French designs and are made on hand sewing machines, the greatest of care being exercised in their construction. They can be laundered with absolutely no fear of rust, each stay being wrapped in kid before putting into place. The tasty Parisian does not tolerate ungraceful lines or injurious shapes. When she is gowned over the Sapphire, a stiff-corseted appearance is not in evidence, but the clearly defined waist line gives a grace distinctly her own.
